

RODGERS FAVORS FORMING NATIONAL DEFENSE BUREAU

Hawaiian Flight Hero Says Inclusion of Army and Navy in One Department Is Necessary.

OPPOSES SEPARATE AVIATION BRANCH

Witness Declares Recent Navy Disasters Were Not Due to Any Blame on Part of Service.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Commander John Rodgers, hero of the navy's unsuccessful Hawaiian flight, surprised his hearers at today's session of the President's air inquiry board by advocating a scheme of national defense unlike any other that has been proposed to the board. Rodgers opposed the formation of either a separate air corps within the navy or a unified air service combining the forces of the army and navy. But he most decidedly did not think that present conditions should be continued.

The core of his recommendation was the creation of a department of national defense, as advocated by Col. William Mitchell. There the parallel between his views and those of Col. Mitchell ended. Where Mitchell advocated an air arm co-ordinate with the army and the navy, under a secretary of national defense, Rodgers urged a defense department with three divisions, which he defined as the "operating army," the "operating navy" and the "command department of supplies." He emphasized that he wanted no separate branch for the air.

Budget for Aviation. Summing up his views, Rodgers said that the navy, from his point of view as a naval officer, could be solved by a separate budget for aviation; by a special promotion list for aviators; by establishing a strong aviation section in the division of naval operations and by repeal of the law which required naval aviators to qualify in all naval subjects.

"For a permanent and final solution," he added, "appoint the strongest man as secretary of the national defense, let him work out the organization required, and when ready take over both the army and navy."

"Last, but most important—a point which I feel safe in assuming no aviator has hitherto mentioned—defense by the air is no cheap thing, as seems to be the popular opinion. I have not the figures, and I doubt if they exist, but I have a conviction they would not be pleasant to look upon."

"Ways and means must be found to reduce this cost. The matter of costs is one which you must face before your duties are completed in this committee."

"Some such comprehensive reorganization as I have suggested is required to effect a great reduction and thus permit aviation to take its proper place in the national defense without breaking the United States Treasury."

The appearance of the commander of the PN-9 No. 1 before the board drew almost as great a crowd to the hearing room as that of Col. Mitchell earlier in the week.

Reads His Statement. Rodgers stood while he read his statement. He departed often from his manuscript to answer a question of the committee or throw in a sidelight from his varied experience as an aviator. The dry humor of these side remarks won frequent laughter from the board and audience. One of these occasions was when he told of "wearing out six pairs of pants" in a futile effort, as chairman of a joint Army and Navy board in the Hawaiian Islands to co-ordinate the air services of the two branches.

Rodgers referred only briefly to his recent experience with the PN-9 No. 1 and that was to exonerate the Navy Department of blame for the failure of the flight.

"I cannot," he said, "see how the Navy Department can, in any way, be responsible for the fact that a good airship, well manned and captained, goes out on a cruise, meets heavy weather and is lost. Nor do I see how the Navy Department can prevent a Savannah Line steamship, which, by the rules of the road, is required to keep clear from running down a submarine."

Reorganization Needed. "Nevertheless," he continued, "there is something vitally wrong with the Navy Department. It is a matter which has no bearing on these accidents and has no bearing on the personal efficiency of any officer in the department. The Navy Department is not organized on the principles of scientific organization."

Rodgers challenged anyone to make "a just criticism" of the arrangements for the Hawaiian flight of the PN-9 No. 1.

Col. William Mitchell previously had told the board that the preparation for the flight looked like the work of "bungling amateurs."

Police Raids on Homes Assailed by Grand Jury

dence submitted to the Prosecuting Attorney's office is highly speculative, or through anonymous information.

"We would be loath to comment upon any wholesale arrests made by the police in raids upon any places known to them as a rendezvous of criminals for the purpose of rounding up criminals. We heartily commend the activity of the police in employing the so-called dragnet system, when necessary, in order to apprehend persons implicated in crime—whether it be the wholesale arrest of persons of criminal characters on the streets or the raiding of places known to the police as hangouts, or other places harboring criminals of persons suspected of being involved in crime."

Requirements of Search Warrants. "The distinction between a felony and a misdemeanor in itself regulates to no uncertain degree the requirements of a search warrant. In cases where search warrants are necessary, sufficient evidence should be given to the Prosecuting Attorney's office to enable such office to rightfully issue such warrant. Our investigation discloses a woeful lack of harmony or understanding between the Police Department and the Prosecuting Attorney's office, and we sincerely recommend that a necessary co-operation be effected between these agencies for the betterment of their efficiency, and the good of the community."

"In this connection we beg to suggest weekly or bi-weekly conferences be held between the Department of Police, the Circuit Attorney, the Prosecuting Attorney and the Coroner. Such meetings have been and are being sought by the Circuit and Prosecuting Attorneys and the Coroner. All the departments mentioned should be benefited by such conferences, and immeasurable good should result."

"Returning to the figures above, we beg to emphasize the fact that they relate only to arrests and convictions under the so-called liquor law violations. We are unable to furnish accurate data regarding the total number of arrests made and subsequent warrants issued in connection with the raiding of places where the police believed hand-books on horse races were being conducted or operated, but in view of the evidence presented by the police in the several cases of this character brought to us for consideration, convictions under similar conditions appear decidedly remote."

Futile Efforts Most Conspicuous. "It develops that since the beginning of our investigation of the subject regarding search warrants the Police Commissioners have employed an attorney to prepare the information upon which the warrant is to be applied for. In our opinion, all requests for warrants should be in writing. The office of the Prosecuting Attorney, in refusing any application for a warrant, should state in writing the reasons for such refusal, and copies of these reasons should be sent to the Department of Police. This should assist the Police Department in complying with the legal requirements and should tend to obviate the misunderstandings and futile efforts which have been made so conspicuous in the several past months."

"We deeply appreciate the degree of risk to which our police officers are subjected in making arrests. We realize the effect upon the minds of all members of the department when arrests of persons guilty of violating our laws are fruitless. In order to obtain convictions no end of effort should be made by our police in gathering valuable evidence. We have been impressed by the weakness displayed in this regard, in connection with cases which have been before this body for its consideration, and we respectfully urge a greater degree of thought and activity on the part of all police officers in the gathering of witnesses and evidence in the future."

"Evidence submitted to the grand jury in regard to the investigation of murders by the police discloses a marked difference of opinion between the Coroner's office and the Police Department relative to the most effective methods, or system, to be employed in the securing of evidence in murder cases, including automobile fatalities. We refrain from commenting on the conditions disclosed in such evidence and prefer to base our observations and recommendations on the information gathered from the numerous automobile and homicide cases which have been presented to this jury. In many of these cases it was most difficult to reach a decision, because of the character of the evidence submitted. Before hearing the respective opinions of the Police Department and the Coroner's office, this body was convinced of the necessity of a more thorough and skillful method in the investigation of homicides and the gathering of witnesses."

"We believe that more effective results are to be obtained only through the employment of a group, or groups, of police officers, especially trained for this purpose. The haphazard manner in which the average patrolman assigned to beat duty could be expected to operate, compared with the results to be expected of men trained to specialize in this branch of service, precludes all argument. Regardless of whether these groups be known as homicide squads, we recommend the establishing and continued employment of at least two corps of experts for the purpose of immediately visiting the scene of the murder and the following up of the case. We also recommend the closer co-operation between these corps and the offices of the Coroner and the Circuit Attorney."

Concealed Weapon Law Futile. Under the head of "Concealed Weapons," the grand jury says: "All persons interested in the checking of crime against the necessity of amending our laws regarding the carrying of concealed weapons at the earliest possible moment. It now appears impossible to obtain a conviction of a concealed gun toter unless the weapon is actually concealed upon the person. The police have submitted evidence in innumerable cases showing their inability to obtain convictions for carrying concealed weapons because of the fact that the persons apprehended resort to the trick of throwing away their weapons upon the approach of the police officers. We earnestly request that the Circuit Attorney draft a law to be presented at the next session of the Legislature, with a view of correcting this condition. A law which can be enforced relative to the sale of firearms and the carrying of assembled firearms is a necessity, if the menace which now exists is to be curbed."

The recommendations as to the Boonville Reformatory are prefaced with a reference to the murder of Harvey Hamilton by Patrolman John H. Grogan, July 1, in a holdup committed by youths. Boonville Paroles Denounced. "Investigation showed," the grand jury states, "that five of these seven boys had been sent to the Missouri Reformatory at Boonville from St. Louis for grave offenses, and paroled from there. The Police Department informs us that within the past six months, 30 holdups and other bad crimes have been committed in St. Louis by boys or men paroled from the Missouri Reformatory. This situation sharply challenges attention, and we have, therefore, made an investigation of the purpose for which the Missouri Reformatory at Boonville was established, and of

GRAND JURY'S VIEW OF NEGRO INFUX AND ITS EFFECT ON CRIME

REGARDING THE INCREASE IN NEGRO POPULATION IN ST. LOUIS AND ITS EFFECT ON CRIME CONDITIONS, THE GRAND JURY SAYS: "The negro population in this city has been rapidly increasing during the past few years. The immigration of 'old negroes' from the South, who come to the city under the impression that St. Louis offers them gold opportunities, is viewed with some degree of alarm by this body. Many of these negroes are not qualified to make a livelihood under our conditions, and, in fact, 17 months was the maximum punishment for a 5-year term, and many inmates got out in much shorter time."

"System Must Be Stopped." "Neither the courts, Circuit Attorney nor the Police Department of St. Louis was notified of parole applications. Often officials were granted a brief statement of the formality or the Penitentiary back on the streets of St. Louis, and frequently caught in the commission of crimes. The application or parole was addressed to the State Prison Board at Jefferson City, and contained a brief statement of the grounds of the application, with an endorsement by the superintendent of the Missouri Reformatory."

"There is no provision in the law requiring notice to be given to the parties who had suffered through the crime, or to the trial Judge, Circuit Attorney or Prosecuting Attorney, Police Department or the city of St. Louis or other city, or Sheriff of the county, or the prosecuting witnesses or prosecuting companies involved. Moreover, no hearings are held on these applications, so far as the foregoing parties are concerned. There is nothing in the law forbidding notice or public hearings, although the same is not mandatory. The result of this system has been that paroles were frequently granted, as shown by the results, both in St. Louis and all over the state, to inmates of the Missouri Reformatory who were entitled to parole. This abuse should and must be stopped."

The grand jury mentions the survey of crime conditions being made by the Missouri Association for Criminal Justice, which is to include the parole system. Pending completion of this survey it is stated, immediate relief measures should be adopted.

All applications for parole, it is declared, should be subject to notice to all parties in interest, and persons who have been robbed or the relatives of murdered persons, should have the opportunity to protest. "Even their consent" should not in all cases justify the granting of the parole. It is added, "because the time is against society." Publicity, notice and public hearings should be substituted for the present system of secrecy in granting paroles the grand jury says.

Changes in Penal Procedure. Detailed recommendations are made as to changes in the penal procedure. Only first offenders should be sent to Boonville, it is declared, and discretion should be used in sending prisoners more than 17 years old there. The Circuit Attorney should keep a public record, and access to this record containing data about persons seeking paroles, with their past records. This recommendation is conditional upon the willingness of the commissioners of penal institutions to supply the information needed for such record.

"We request," the grand jury says, "that the judges in general term of St. Louis, in meeting duly assembled, shall, by appropriate resolution, formally request the Governor and commissioners of penal institutions of Missouri to grant no paroles to criminals in the penitentiary or reformatory of this State, if sent there from St. Louis, without the giving of due notice such as has been suggested and the holding of a public hearing."

Three distinct bodies in this city now handle paroles. It is stated, these being departments connected with the Circuit Court, the Police Courts and the Court of Correction. These should be unified and so-ordinated by legislation, it is declared. The same system recommended for publicity in matters of paroles from State institutions is suggested also in regard to paroles from the St. Louis workhouse.

In asking for the co-operation of the Governor and State officials, the grand jury says that "the gravity of the situation—the safety of life and property in the City of St. Louis and the State of Missouri—demand such action."

For Stop Signals on Street Cars. Besides recommending the enactment of a law for licensing of all drivers of motor vehicles, the grand jury recommends the installation of stop signals on the rear of street cars, to make it easier for motorists to avoid collisions with street cars. This proposal, when placed before the Legislature last year, was rejected by Representative John T. Moore of St. Louis, who treated as a joke, and the measure was passed by the State Senate with a string of facetious amendments, one of which provided that the act should be in force only during total eclipses of the sun and moon.

"Street cars," it is added, "should also be equipped with automatic signals indicating the intent of the motorman to turn either to the right or to the left."

CHAMPAGNE PLANT SEIZED IN COUNTY

Large Quantity of "Cook's Imperial" Found in Deserted Inn Near Altheim.

A number of "favored" St. Louisans, complacent in the knowledge that they were able to secure "real champagne" even in these days of drought, probably will find their source of supply throttled since Paul K. Gill, a prohibition agent, recently detected the odor of mash struggling for supremacy over gasoline fumes as his roadster chugged past Caruso's son on Clayton road, two miles west of Altheim.

Yesterday prohibition agents, with a search warrant, uncovered in the deserted inn one of the most complete plants they have yet discovered. Seven men and a woman are under arrest.

It has been common talk in circles where liquor is consumed that "Cook's Imperial Champagne" might be secured in copious lots and the demand has been firm with the supply even firmer.

Complete Plant Found. The agents, under Deputy Administrator James Dillon, found a complete plant for making champagne, 463 quart bottles of the finished product and 215 gallons in copper vats ready for bottling. In addition they found 800 gallons of mash in a barn, and expressed the opinion that the alcohol thus obtained was used to add telling force to the natural "kick" of the wine. Five gallons of whiskey and 23 gallons of grain alcohol also were found.

There was no still in evidence, but in a small building adjoining the inn unmistakable evidence of a still having been there was discovered.

An extensive bottling department was found in what was formerly the dance floor of the inn. A great number of cases, tinfuls, corks, and all the little things that contributed to the delusion of "real champagne" were there. It was such a complete plant that Administrator Breuer, in charge of Missouri, Kansas and Southern Illinois enforcement, went from his office in the Title Guaranty Building to inspect it. W. D. Moss, his temporary predecessor, accompanied him.

Eight Persons Arrested. The plant was destroyed. Those arrested described themselves as Mr. and Mrs. Victor Zeriga, proprietors of the property; Antonio Caruso, 35, and his son, Antonio Jr., Joe Cirro, Joe Decario, Frank Passanti and John Pedreguana.

The reasons for this suggestion are too obvious for comment. In commending the management of Fort Belknap Industrial Farms, the grand jury expresses the opinion that the proposed change in supervision of this or similar institutions, through establishing the office of Commissioner of Correction, would be a grave mistake.

The City Jail is criticized for the keeping of white and negro women prisoners in the same room, and for insufficient segregation of younger prisoners from old offenders. Koch Hospital, Scott Farms (City Training School) and the General Clinic receive commendatory notices.

Personnel of Grand Jury. The members of the grand jury, including two alternates, are: Henry F. Tiemeyer, foreman, president Tiemeyer Carpet Co.; Robert A. Baird, vice president Hanley & Kinella Coffee and Spice Co.; Albert G. Blanke, president Blanke Real Estate Co.; Joseph R. Calfee, vice president First National Bank; Max A. Davis, secretary Buettner Furniture Co.; Louis P. Delbo, secretary Anchor Grain Co.; Frederick J. Herkert, secretary Herkert & Meisel Trunk Co.; Frederick Krey, president Krey Packing Co.; William W. LaBeaume, vice president Crane Insurance Co.; John Lees, manager Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.; Joseph Mogler, moving picture theater proprietor; Gustav C. Tausig, assistant manager St. Louis Smelting and Refining Co.; Edward E. Scharrf, alternate, president Scharrf-Kokon Manufacturing Co.; and Alden H. Little, alternate, president Little & Moore, Investments.

Keasling of Butler died late yesterday, following an accident at the merry-go-round at the Bates County Fair. She was standing near the amusement device when a support rod broke, striking her on the head. She suffered a fractured skull and concussion of the brain.

HELD FOR $200,000 COUNTERFEITING

Treasurer of Can Company Rested at Chicago After Investigation.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—A counterfeiter, who had been arrested with a group which raised $1,000,000 in gold certificates and passed more than $200,000 of them, was held for $200,000 by the Federal agents. A long investigation, under the arrest, began, the Government said, when a picture was found in a studio where a quantity of counterfeit money was being manufactured. They said that at various times the counterfeiter had been used in engraving operations, and that he had used the materials of the counterfeiting business.

Another angle entering into the alleged counterfeiting operation, the agents said, was the appearance, a month ago, of a Southern, cafe owner, after he agreed to make disclosures relating to his wife, of counterfeiting operations. The Government said Southern and Armat, friends, had become enemies. Armat was arrested by United States Commissioner and released in bonds of $100,000.

Treasurer of Can Company Arrested at Chicago After Investigation.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Charles J. Armato, treasurer of the Can Company, was arrested at Chicago after investigation. His explanation was that he had used the materials in the manufacturing.

Another angle entering into the alleged counterfeiting operations, the agents said, was the disappearance, a month ago, of Keith Southern, cafe owner, after he had agreed to make disclosures, according to his wife, of counterfeiting operations. The Government men said Southern and Armato, once friends, had become enemies.

15 PLANES LEAVE FOR EAST AFTER THREE-HOUR DELAY

Twelfth Entrant in Ford Tour Remains at Lambert Field to Have Broken Valve Spring Mended.

DOG FORCES CHANGE IN STARTING TIME

Weather in East Clearing When Machines Hop Off at 2-Minute Intervals for Indianapolis.

When the 15 remaining machines in the Ford commercial reliability tour sailed safely away from Lambert field between 10:30 and 11 a. m. today on their leg to Indianapolis.

One plane, a Laird, was found to have a broken valve spring and needed repairs, expecting to depart later in the day and to overhaul at others at their night stop.

Departure was scheduled at 10 a. m. and the ships were on the way ready at that hour, but a dog for enveloped the field. Visibility was nil. In addition, reports of thick weather over Illinois were coming in and it was deemed wise to delay the start.

By that time, clouds had disappeared, the sun was shining and the weather to the east was clearing.

The ships sailed away on a straight line for Terre Haute, which took them over the extreme northern portion of the city. The planes of the four came roaring off at sharp 11 o'clock, the others following at two-minute intervals, the last taking the air at 12:30.

Crowd of 1000 on Hand. A crowd of less than 1000 was on hand at the field yesterday afternoon when the first four of the planes of the tour came roaring off at sharp 11 o'clock, the others following at two-minute intervals, the last taking the air at 12:30.

Other Planes Land. Above the broad-winged monoplanes another ship appeared. The Ford motor Co. product of a Ford motor Co. was roaring over the field.

When the field the times found Ford had passed over the line with Beach two seconds behind. The Fokker was three seconds behind Beach and the six seconds after the Fokker.

Cowboys Again. Minutes after the first four came C. S. (Casey) Jones, one of the air, in a Curtiss Curtiss. An outstanding figure in the international races in St. Louis, 1925, the redoubtable Jones again brought public notice by keeping his ship in the air after it had been partially crashed.

Only Woman On Ford Airplane Tour

MRS. FRANCIS BOWMAN, wife of the pilot of one of the planes entered in the Ford commercial airplane reliability tour, is accompanying her husband on the 1800-mile flight and is the only woman in the tour.

They were nearly forced out of the race Wednesday due to a storm, which necessitated a forced landing near Kansas City. Bowman and his wife both have Indian blood. Their plane, a Travel Air, is manufactured at Wichita, Kan., their home town.

This photograph was made on her arrival here yesterday.

MRS. FRANCIS BOWMAN.

55 miles an hour, nosed over with a crash. When the rufel Casey took inventory he found a smashed landing gear, a wrecked left lower wing and a damaged tank from which gasoline was spurting.

Everybody thought he was out of the contest—but Jones. He and his mechanic went to work at once. The landing gear they repaired with wire and some welding. A gasoline tank was hoisted from somewhere and placed in the front cockpit. The broken spar in the lower wing was spliced and a new fabric was drawn over the work.

Worked All Night. Casey and his mechanic worked all night. They were still working when the others took off at the usual 2-minute intervals Wednesday morning. That day the other ships stopped off at St. Joseph on the way to Kansas City. Just as they were ready to take the air again a plane swept down on the field. It was Casey and his Pigeon and they are still going strong, if somewhat disfigured. The Pigeon is a mail plane of new design.

After Jones had landed yesterday the 14 other ships came in at regular intervals until 3 p. m., except the Laird, which was two hours behind.

Among the smaller ships in the contest are three Travel-Airs, a Waco, three Swallows, two Martins and a Yackey Sport. Upon reaching St. Louis, the ships in the tour from Detroit had flown 1125 miles. Of the 17 planes starting the trip, only one plane was missing, a Waco, which crashed Wednesday.

SENTENCE OF GRACE LUKS IS COMMUTED BY GOVERNOR

Former Wisconsin School Teacher Was Sentenced in 1918 for 19 Years on Murder Charge.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 2.—Grace Lusk, former Waukesha school teacher, convicted of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Mrs. David Roberts and sentenced June 18, 1918, to 19 years in State prison, has been granted a commutation of sentence by Gov. Blaine. The sentence was commuted to expire yesterday.

She was released on a conditional pardon Jan. 17, 1923, and since then has conducted herself "in a manner compatible with good citizenship and has fulfilled all the conditions," the executive announced. Moreover her health has improved.

FIGHTS $1320 FUNERAL OF MAN WITH $129,000

Executor Contests Undertaker's Bill, Saying Adolph Abbey Led a Frugal Life.

Whether a funeral bill of $1320 for a wealthy bachelor, who was known to be frugal, is excessive, is a question at issue in Probate Court. The claim has been filed by the Berger Undertaking Co., 4715 McPherson avenue, against the estate of Adolph Abbey, an attorney.

Payment of the bill has been refused by Julius J. Fuchs, executor of the estate. He asked the company for a reduction, but the undertaker stood on the original charge and took the matter to court, alleging the amount demanded was reasonable.

$850 Charge for Coffin. Fuchs particularly objects to a charge of $850 for a casket. It is his view that as Abbey's body was cremated a cheap casket would have served the purpose. He contends this was made known to the undertaker, who also, it was said, was made aware that the attorney had lived economically and his views were such as to be inconsistent with having a costly funeral. The executor asserted he put a limit of $600 on the cost of Abbey's funeral, although the undertaker company denies any limit was fixed, except that the charge was to be reasonable.

Other Items to which the executor takes exception are $100 for embalming, $100 for a Jewish rabbi and $50 for a cantor. The rabbi and cantor officiated at the funeral. As to the embalming, it is the contention of the executor that $25 is the customary fee for such service.

Left Estate of $129,000. Depositions of the executor and Herbert L. Berger, one of the officers of the undertaking company, were recently taken by Special Commissioner E. E. Rudolph. Fuchs yesterday refused to make public the depositions, saying the documents have not yet been filed.

At the same time he appeared in court and asked for a jury to hear the case. His motion was granted by Judge Holtcamp, who set the case for trial Oct. 19.

Abbey left an estate valued at $129,000, a sister being the principal beneficiary. He died last June. In accordance with his will his ashes recently were strewn into the Mississippi River from the Municipal bridge.

BROKER'S SENTENCE AFFIRMED. Fred L. Kriebel and His New York Manager Lose Appeals. CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Fred L. Kriebel, former broker and Henry Pomery, his New York manager, must serve prison sentences and pay fines imposed on their conviction of using the mails to defraud in connection with the operation of the defunct brokerage firm of Fred L. Kriebel & Co., the United States Circuit Court of Appeals ruled today. A rehearing was denied both men.

CONTRACT FOR BIRCHER SEWER LET FOR $161,658

Work Goes to New Firm Once Rejected on Another City Job as "Not Responsible."

The Missouri Engineering and Contracting Co., whose low bid on the construction of the new 100,000-gallon waterworks reservoir was not considered "responsible," today was awarded the contract for construction of the joint district sewer, west of Union boulevard, between the Terminal tracks and Blücher street, by the Board of Public Service.

The Missouri company's bid of $161,658.15 on this project was the lowest submitted and was 7.6 per cent below the city's estimate of $175,000. Two former city officials—Francis Cuts, assistant Water Commissioner, and C. M. Daily, chief engineer—are connected with the Missouri concern.

The Board of Public Service today also let the contract for construction of Baden Sewer District No. 4, a bond issue work, its bid of $131,562.70 being the lowest submitted. The bid was 17.4 per cent under the city's estimate of $160,000.

DEATHS FROM TUBERCULOSIS DECLINE RAPIDLY, EXPERT SAYS

Johns Hopkins Professor Urges All Nurses to Take Course in Nursing Tubercular Patients.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Deaths from tuberculosis are rapidly decreasing. Dr. Allen J. Krause, associate professor of medicine in Johns Hopkins University, made the statement yesterday in an address to members of the Illinois League of Nursing Education, adding that in 25 years, the death rate from tuberculosis in New York City has dropped from 280 to 100 per 100,000 population. He urged that all nurses take a course in nursing tubercular patients, explaining that the tubercle germ is unique, in that it is one of the most hardy, being able to withstand a temperature of 200 degrees and to live in freezing temperatures for months. Its one greatest enemy is sunshine, he added.

JEWELS VALUED AT $700,000 STOLEN FROM HEIRESS

Mrs. J. P. Donahue, Daughter of Woolworth, Left Them in Desk While in Bath at New York Hotel.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—In the 10 minutes while she was bathing in the next room, in her suite on the sixth floor of the Hotel Plaza, Wednesday afternoon, two necklaces of rose-colored pearls, a large diamond ring and some minor trinkets were stolen from Mrs. J. P. Donahue, daughter of the late Frank P. Woolworth, 5 and 10 cent store founder.

Donahue, in making known the details of the theft, set the value of the missing jewels at $700,000. The firm of Chubb & Son, through which they had been "ruy" insured," according to Donahue, insured the value was "not anything like $700,000," but declined to set a figure. The police called it $500,000.

The theft came within a day after the latest additions to the strings of pearls had been made. For 10 years Donahue had been buying pearls and adding them to the strings. Tuesday his final purchase of two pearls, the largest of them all, arrived from Paris, where he had bought them on his recent European trip with his wife. The afternoon she took them to Carter's to be strung. She agreed with her husband that the addition of the last two pearls, one of 28, the other of 47 grains, made the necklaces complete.

Put Handbag on Desk. On Wednesday she lunched with her husband near his brokerage office. She left him at 2:30 o'clock to go shopping. At 4:30 o'clock she returned to the hotel in her automobile. In the apartment she found only her French maid, Anale, and a note from her mother room. Mrs. Donahue opened the door from the main corridor to her sitting room and left the key in the door on the outside. She sat at a desk to write a letter to her small son, away at boarding school. The room was freezing cold all day," she told her husband later, "so I took a hot bath."

She tossed her handbag on the top of the desk and placed in the back of the top drawer her diamond ring and her pearls, which she had worn steadily for years, except when sleeping. Close by, lying open to view on the same table, were two strings of imitation pearls, so cleverly made it would require an expert's eye to detect them from the real.

Loss Discovered. She closed the door into the sitting room while she bathed. Beyond the bathroom, in the room where her two sons, James Jr. and Woolworth, had slept, was the maid.

When she returned to the sitting room, 10 minutes later, to rest before dinner, Mrs. Donahue did not notice that the door to the outside corridor was ajar as if a puff of wind had come and gone, leaving it that way. But the maid, entering with a letter, noticed, and, wondering, closed it.

At 6:50 o'clock Donahue returned to his apartment from his office. His wife was still lying down, having been treated by a masseuse. In a few minutes she began to dress for dinner. When she opened the desk drawer to get her necklace it was not there. She called to her husband.

"You put my pearls away?" "No," he replied.

They began to search for them. Donahue insisted she must have placed them in the traveling bag in which she was accustomed to keep her jewels. She insisted she had put them in the desk drawer. Mrs. Donahue's hand bag containing the keys for the traveling bag had also disappeared.

The maid, Donahue's travel, John Seghers, and the masseuse were interrogated. They said they were ignorant of the crime and Donahue had no every reason to trust them completely.

20,000 CASES OF LIQUOR, 56 MEN, SEIZED ON BARGE

Raid Made by Four Men of New Jersey State Police While Craft Is Being Unloaded.

BURLINGTON, N. J., Oct. 2.—Fifty-six prisoners taken in a raid at Masonville on a barge containing liquor valued at $500,000 were brought to the county jail today. Efforts of the barge crew to burn the boat were frustrated by the State police.

The barge contained 20,000 cases of foreign liquors, including champagne, benedictine, creme de menthe, Scotch and English whiskey and French wines.

The capture was made by State police assisted by Charles Carlisle, a former prohibition agent of Columbus, O.

Lieut. William Nichols, who led the party, is the holder of a distinguished service medal, and Trooper Rankin, who, with Sergt. Wilton and Trooper Green, comprised the party, recently was awarded a prize of $1000 by a magazine for an act of heroism.

Raiding Unnoticed. The barge arrived yesterday and tied up at Adams wharf near Bridgeboro. The raiding party was as the first trucks were being loaded and made its way into the center of operations without being noticed. No lookouts had been posted.

In addition to the barge and its cargo, six trucks and four automobiles were captured.

The troopers said they were offered $75,000 to leave the place. More than $125,000 was found on the 56 men brought to Burlington. All the runners were armed, but after a show of resistance, during which not shots were fired, they obeyed the command to get aboard the barge.

Nichols marched 25 of them off the boat one at a time, searching each for weapons as he stepped ashore. This contingent was sent to Burlington, in one of the captured trucks, under guard. The rest were headed into the cabin while a member of the raiding party telephoned for assistance in taking them to jail.

Cabin Set on Fire

The 31 prisoners in the cabin set fire to the boat, and three of them, breaking loose, jumped overboard. A threat to shoot to kill from the troopers on guard brought them back. A fire company from Bridgeboro put out the fire. The cabin was destroyed, but none of the cargo was damaged.

The barge was the A. D. Blaters, a craft 400 feet long. Police said that the raid struck at the heart of a new system of getting contraband liquor ashore and that at least two barges had been unloaded at the same spot recently.

REPEAL PRIMARY LAW FOR JUDGES, WILFLEY URGES

peal, but does impose an obligation of observance so long as the law remains on the statute books. "There are open violations of many laws, but no one would advocate the repealing of a law simply because a large number of people fail to observe it. It is unfortunate that many respectable people seek to discredit certain laws by contending that they are not adequately enforced, and supplement the contention by contemptuous disregard of such laws. Such an attitude creates a pernicious influence in encouraging disrespect for all law.

Curtails Human Rights. In carrying out its functions, government of necessity, goes far in curtailing human rights, but no such curtailment will justify a man in taking the law into his own hands. Whenever decent, self-respecting men continuously evade the law and try to justify their attitude by claiming that laws transgress their ideas of governmental functions, when such laws have been enacted by duly constituted legislative authority, under specific constitutional provision, approved by the people of the present day, then we may expect the vicious element in the community to apply the same token and hold in contempt the laws which are designed to restrain their vile passions to disregard the rights of life and property."

Recent Florida Laws. Taxation laws were discussed with the present conditions in Florida as an instance of the practical effect of tax regulations and exemptions on business. The speaker expressed the belief that the present Florida land boom was due largely to the recent amendment to the Constitution of Florida which prohibits income and inheritance taxes in the State.

In discussing the problem of more effective enforcement of criminal laws, Senator Wilfley spoke of the work now being done by the Missouri Association for Criminal Justice. In collecting facts to serve as the basis for proposals of changes in laws and court procedure, he dwelt upon the responsibilities of the courts and the need for preserving a high order of ability in the judiciary.

Today's sessions were occupied chiefly with committee reports, including the following: "Increase of Membership," L. E. Smith; "Criminal Law and Procedure," E. L. Alford; "Legal Education and Admission to the Bar," G. A. Thompson; "Grievances and Legal Ethics," Wendell H. Cloud; "Uniform State Laws," W. L. Sturdevant; "Publicity," F. C. Donnell, and "Citizenship," E. F. Nelson.

SPANISH TROOPS ENTER CAPITAL OF RIFFIAN LEADER

General de Rivera Had Reported Ajdir, Capital City of Moroccan Rebels, as Burning.

By the Associated Press. MADRID, Oct. 2.—Spain's troops entered Ajdir, capital of Abd-el-Krim, the Riffian leader, at 11:30 o'clock this morning, according to official advice from Morocco.

News of the victory was received here with great rejoicing. Flags were flown from most of the houses in Madrid and King Alfonso appeared at a window of the palace to receive an ovation from a great crowd which gathered there.

The King and the military directorate sent telegrams of congratulations to Gen. Primo de Rivera, head of the directorate, who had personally been directing the Moroccan campaign.

The burning of Ajdir was reported yesterday by Gen. Primo de Rivera in a wireless dispatch from the battleship Alfonso XIII, lying off the Alhucemas coast.

"Ajdir is afire, including Abd-el-Krim's headquarters," the message of the Spanish commander-in-chief said. "The conflagration, viewed from our new positions, presents a strange spectacle."

Petain Moving French Troops Like Figures on Chess Board

By the Associated Press. PARIS, Oct. 2.—Marshal Petain is moving the French troops on the Moroccan battlefield like an expert chess player and now has achieved, in the opinion of the experts, after a two days' offensive in the Kifane region "a very strong position on the right hand corner of the board."

An advance of from 8 to 10 miles north from Kifane, an announced in the official communique, placed Marshal Petain in the position of "having the King in check." The King is Abd-el-Krim and the threatened position is Ajdir.

The operations in the past two days have enabled the French to occupy more than 100 square kilometers of territory.

PLAN TO SPEED UP
U. R. REORGANIZATION

Reorganization Committee to Meet in New York, Oct. 19, to Discuss Situation.

An effort to speed up the reorganization of the United Railways Co. will be made when the reorganization committee meets in New York Oct. 19, to receive reports on the movement's status after a summer of comparative idleness.

It appears that the meeting will relate only to the railway company and not to any attempt to purchase bus lines in anticipation of a co-ordination of the two services in one new company.

Federal Judge Paris, before whom foreclosure suits by bondholders are pending, has set Jan. 5 as the date for hearing of the suits in an apparent effort to push the reorganization forward.

On that date a sale of the properties under the consolidated mortgages could be effected or, by agreement of the various parties, the suits could be dismissed and the reorganization move forward.

Holders of $5,000,000 in Suburban bonds, through their protective committee, also have expressed a desire to see the matter move swiftly in a letter to Frank O. Watts, chairman of the reorganization committee.

As is known, the reorganization plan provides for the payment of $2,000,000 Suburban consolidated bonds which are now paying 8 per cent interest. The United Railways receiver had an unpaid balance of $320,000 interest due on these bonds as of yesterday.

The plan further provides for extension of the $4,500,000 general Suburban bonds bearing 5 per cent interest. The unpaid interest on this issue now is $562,500. Thus, in addition to the principal amount of the bonds the company owes Suburban bondholders $62,500 in accrued interest.

A provision of the agreement with the Suburban provides for the retirement of $100,000 of the general 5 per cent bonds annually for 10 years, when the remainder of the issue will be refinanced.

Other factors entering into a reorganization include the necessity of securing a new franchise from the city under the service at cost plan contemplated. The meeting in New York is for the purpose of bringing all phases of the plan before the committee in order that action for the near future may be worked out.

NEW AUTO ACCIDENTS
Among Newspaper Readers
Two Per Cent of Fatalities to Children Under 15, Safety Congress Is Told.
CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 2.—Only one out of the total fatal accidents to pedestrians thus far in the year are estimated to have occurred to the newspaper reading class of so-called active age and readers of daily newspapers have a greater chance of crossing streets safely than any other class.

George E. Wallis, research director of the Reinsch-Elms Co., Chicago, made this assertion today in addressing the public education session of the Fourteenth National Safety Congress here.
Facts collected by the National Safety Council were quoted by Wallis to show that as the result of a nation-wide publicity campaign undertaken voluntarily by the press on matters of public safety, the automobile casualty age is gradually shifting from the age period of active life to the non-newspaper reading age prior to 15 and to ages beyond middle life, where physical infirmities contribute to the accident hazards.

Approximately 42 per cent of the total fatal accidents to pedestrians thus far this year have occurred to children under 15 years, and 28 per cent to adults over 34.

"Public indifference to a national problem which has already cost in excess of 150,000 lives and millions, even billions, of dollars, is being overcome through constant appeal to the public conscience by means of the printed word," Wallis said.

Italian Submarine Sunk by Ship.
By the Associated Press.
ROME, Oct. 2.—The Ministry of Marine says it is learned that the Italian submarine Veniero, sunk off the Sicilian coast during the maneuvers of the Italian Navy in August, was rammed by the steamer Capena, belonging to the Roma Navigation Co., and intimated that this collision caused the loss of the submarine. The Sebastiano Veniero carried 60 officers and men.

4000 TONS OF STEEL ON MISSOURI RIVER BARGES

Tip to Be Made From Kansas City Here Enroute to Gulfport, Miss.

Barge carrying 4000 tons of steel will ply the Missouri River from Kansas City to St. Louis within the next 30 days, marking the inauguration of heavy tonnage transportation on this waterway.

The shipment is sponsored by Woods Bros. Construction Co. of Lincoln, Neb., and is consigned to Gulfport, Miss., where the company is building a concrete sea wall.

M. M. Woods, president of the firm, in speaking of the shipment, said that "the commercial eyes of the nation will be focused on this project," adding that it will surprise many that a Missouri River shipment of this extent is possible. "The greatest drawbacks to commercial navigation on the Missouri," he said, "are the cross-overs, where the stream tends to shift from one bank to the other, causing ridges in the bed and interfering with traffic." But he contended that even with these cross-overs "here and there" the river is now in usable condition, and will be still more accessible to heavy shipping when a method of shore line protection known as standard current retarders, which holds the river in a more direct channel, is put into operation.

PITTSBURG BANKER INDICTED Charged With Embezzling More Than $1,000,000.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 2.—An early trial for John A. Bell, president of the closed Carnegie Trust Co., who was indicted yesterday by the grand jury on 14 counts, charging embezzlement of $1,151,955.44 of the funds of the institution, was indicated by District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, who said the case would probably be called within a month, or six weeks.

The indictments against Bell specifically charge him with embezzling and abstracting monies and with making false entries on the books of the bank in connection with "withdrawals" by county officials and the Carnegie Coal cept through members of the Association of Master Plumbers, and the latter would not sell to them.

"As our business expanded we went beyond this for a market into the rural districts of Missouri, Illinois and Arkansas, and promoted sanitation in small towns and country districts. In these places, where there is no association of masters nor union, a bathroom costing $400 in St. Louis can be completely installed with similar material and fixtures for $150.

"Bright Boy Could Do Job."
"In districts where there is no water or sewage system, we supply complete bathroom fixtures, water system and septic tank, all for about $225, all parts cut and fit ready for installation by the owner. A bright boy could do the job.

"It will be shown in the investigation about to be undertaken by the Attorney-General that even with union wages prevailing, plumbing costs in St. Louis are 25 per cent too high, due to methods employed by the trust supply houses in conjunction with the masters and union journeymen. Secretary of Commerce Hoover knew what he was about when he called plumbers to Washington to have them revise their methods in the interest of lower building costs."

In the early days of his struggles as an independent supply dealer Goldberg relied than on several occasions detectives raided his place of business on so-called anonymous tips that he had stolen goods on sale. On one occasion, he said, detectives demanded where he obtained a carload of water tanks he had purchased. He believed this method was employed by those seeking to put him out of business to ascertain where he was purchasing supplies so that pressure could be brought to bear on manufacturers not to sell to him.

Goldberg's information was taken today by George W. Crowder, an Assistant Attorney-General, who has been assigned to the investigation by Attorney-General Clegg. Crowder is at Jefferson Hotel with a stenographer. He also took statements from other informants brought in by Tate. Crowder will remain in St. Louis today and possibly through Saturday, taking statements of certain persons who have information pertinent to the case.

NEXT WAR TO BE WON WITH GAS, SAYS MAJ.-GEN. FRIES

Chief of Chemical Department Makes Address to Reserve Officers.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 2.—The organization of a separate air service would violate the military principle of unity of command, Major-General George B. Duncan, commander of the Seventh Corps Area, declared in an address here yesterday before the convention of the Reserve Officers' Association of the United States.

He said there was no record of any case in which ground troops have been forced back because of an attack from the air.

"In Africa right now," said Gen. Duncan, "the Riffs are opposed by the French air service and artillery. Nevertheless, if the meager reports are to be believed, the poorly trained and equipped Riffians give ground only when forced back at the point of the bayonet."

In the next war, nations will strike swiftly for peace with gas, Major-General Amos A. Fries, chief of the Chemical Warfare Department, said in an address.

The nation that is best prepared, he declared, will immediately seek to injure its antagonist with gas to such an extent that peace will be asked.

"Imagine a gas attack on one of our cities," Gen. Fries added. "Gas masks would not be available, and chaos would result. In warfare it is deemed better to wound than to kill, because a wounded soldier requires others to take care of him. It can be seen, then, that a city temporarily blinded or otherwise maimed would be a catastrophe."

THREE DRUGGISTS ARRESTED FOR PARAGORIC SALES

Charged by Federal Inspector With Selling Excessive Amount of Drug to Informer.

Three druggists were arrested shortly afternoon today by Federal Inspector Thompson and his agents on warrants charging them with violations of the Harrison antinarcotic act for the alleged sale of excessive quantities of paragoric to a drug addict and Government informer.

Those arrested were Carl Homer, 22, of 2600 Market street; Sam Lees, 24, of 7525 South Broadway, and Grover Finley, 42, of 4222 Wyoming street. Warrants have been issued against five other druggists, who are expected to be arrested later today.

The sale of paragoric, which contains two grains of morphine to each ounce, is regulated by Section 25 of the antinarcotic act to two ounces daily to an individual. The act also requires that records be kept by the druggist of each sale of paragoric.

WATCHMAN'S FEET SCALDED

Charles Kimmel, 70 years old, a watchman employed at the Smith-Davis Manufacturing Co., 1923 Locust street, was scalded on both feet at 6 a. m. today, when he accidentally released steam and boiling water from a boiler in the engine-room of the concern. He was treated at City Hospital and taken to his home, 4745 Maffitt avenue.

UNITED RAILWAYS SEEK LOWER ASSESSMENT

Council Urges $35,000,000 Valuation Instead of Present
$47,163,480

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 2.—An assessment of property of the United Railways Co. of St. Louis for 1925 taxes at not more than 59 per cent of its tax return of $56,817,377 was urged by company representatives in a hearing today before the State Board of Equalization, on the ground any higher assessment would be out of proportion to average assessment of other property in St. Louis. The return is its present valuation by the State Public Service Commission for a fare-making basis. The United Railways is the only major public utility in the State that returns to the Tax Commission for the taxation the same valuation given it for rate-making purposes.

The Tax Commission recommended an assessment of $47,163,480 for the United Railways in its report to the Board of Equalization, an increase of $87,539 over last year. E. H. Walsh, assistant general counsel of the company, urged the board to fix the final assessment at about $35,000,000, declaring any higher assessment would be unfair, considering other assessments and the present financial condition of the company.

Walsh stated the assessment recommended by the tax commission was 53 per cent of the full valuation of the company, while other property in Missouri was being assessed at an average of 53.6 per cent of its actual value. During 1924 the United Railways paid $2,330,578 in all kinds of taxes Walsh said, amounting to 11.9 per cent of its total operating revenue of $19,515,276. The property tax alone is 5.53 per cent of gross revenue, Walsh said. Walsh also urged a reduction in the assessment of the Missouri Electric Railroad Co. (St. Charles line) which is owned by the United Railways. The company made a return of $1,065,554. The tax commission recommended $815,175, an increase of $23,665 over last year.

Ago

The mammoth Exposition Building was an outstanding landmark of the city. In its great Music Hall seating 7000 people Gilmore's Band gave their famous concerts.

Here, each year the city's manufacturers and wholesalers displayed their merchandise and merchants came from far and wide to place their orders.

But the Exposition's days were numbered. Soon the Library was destined to replace it. One institution's going sees another started.

Those days marked the beginning of the Kline organization. The tiny 25-foot store at 509 Washington was the beginning of the great Establishments which today cover the Middle West.

SHAM BATTLE STORY CAUSED ITALIAN PAPER'S SUSPENSION

Executive of "Stampa" Removed Under New Law When General of Army Made Protest.

Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.) ROME, Oct. 2.—As the result of an article in Monday's issue, the Liberal newspaper Stampa received yesterday a second warning from the Prefect of Turin, who applied the new press law and removed the Stampa's responsible, that is, the person responsible for the conduct of the paper. As no paper can be published without a Girante Responsible, the Stampa is obliged to suspend publication until a new Girante is recognized.

The Stampa's correspondent attending the army maneuvers said that in a sham battle the Italian soldiers destroyed some houses in a village. Following strong protests from the General commanding the Italian troops the issue of the paper was immediately sequestered, but this did not prevent the Fascists from making hostile demonstrations against the journal, all copies available being burnt. The correspondent says an error was made in transmission of his story.
The Stampa, founded 48 years ago, always has reflected the political views of ex-Premier Giolitti.

FLYING TO THE BIG RACES

Lieut. F. D. Hackett, San Francisco,
Alights in St. Louis on Way.
Lieut. F. D. Hackett of Crissy Field, San Francisco, piloting a Douglas C-1 army transport plane, departed today for Dayton, enroute to Mitchell Field, L. I., where the plane is to be entered in the national air races.

Two other planes of the type have been delivered to the army at Dayton, and six others are still to be delivered. Lieut. Hackett, accompanied by W. A. Frye, Dean Farman and T. C. Evan, Los Angeles reserve officers, arrived in St. Louis yesterday. They left Santa Monica on Sept. 23 and stopped at Tucson, El Paso, San Antonio, Muskogee and Kansas City. They expect to reach Dayton in four hours.

Death for Attack on Girl.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 2.—The death penalty was imposed on George Bowman, 21 years old, by a jury at Winchester yesterday afternoon, for an attack on Zelma Lewis, 15, ward of the Masonic Widows' and Orphans' Home in Louisville, on Sept. 22, while she was on her way to visit relatives in Clark County.

$10,000,000 for Football.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—The expenditure of about $10,000,000 this year on football by the American people was contrasted today by Maj. John L. Griffith, Big Ten athletic commissioner, with the annual cigarette bill of Americans totaling about $800,000,000. He spoke to the Illinois Club of Chicago.

ROW IN CHILEAN CABINET CAUSED PRESIDENT TO QUIT

Minister of War Refused to Resign When Requested; Situation Remains Quiet.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 2.—President Arturo Alessandri resigned yesterday after appointing Luis Barros-Borgono, Minister of the Interior and Vice President and turning over the presidential powers to him.

For the moment the situation is quiet, without any public demonstration or display of armed forces. The former President does not contemplate leaving the country or soliciting the protection of any foreign legation or embassy.

The President's resignation followed a dispute with Col. Carlos Ibanez, Minister of War. After the Cabinet resigned yesterday in order to guarantee a free presidential election which will be held Oct. 24, Col. Ibanez did not hand in his resignation, saying that he would do so later. The Minister of War is a candidate for the presidency. Wednesday night the President demanded that he resign, pointing out that he should not hold a portfolio while a candidate for the presidency. Col. Ibanez replied today saying there was no inconsistency in his position and that he would not resign and was responsible for the discipline of the nation's armed forces in the present political chaos.

Senor Barros-Borgono, who temporarily assumes the duties of President, was a candidate for that office in the election of 1920, when he was narrowly defeated by Senor Alessandri.

ARMOR FOR BERLIN POLICE

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—Berlin police recently tried out with complete success the new suits of armor with which they have been equipped. A Russian murderer barricaded himself in a Gruenewald villa and defied the world. Thereupon the police strapped on their armor, walked calmly up and battered down the door, stopping several revolver bullets without harm to themselves.

The new armor is composed of small overlapping scales and of double thick metal. The outside is steel, the inside a light-weight metal. The complete uniform consists of a headpiece, breastplate, body piece, backpiece, neck protector and leggings. There is also a shield which the police may carry in their hands to protect their faces. So resistant is the material that even steel bullets shatter on the scales or fall to the ground in crumbled bits. The German police believe they have found a complete protection against all small arms, including army rifles and machine guns. Breast, body and back pieces may be worn under ordinary clothing. The invention dates from 1921 and is now considered to have made good.

Protest on Church Prohibition Report.

FREMONT, Neb., Oct. 2.—The Nebraska W. C. T. U., at its fiftieth annual meeting here, has adopted a resolution protesting against the recent report on prohibition published under the auspices of the Federal Council of Churches. The resolution said the report was misleading, inaccurate and "did not give the correct impression of moral, economic and social results of prohibition."

MAN DEPENDENT OVER WIFE'S DEATH ENDS LIFE

Man St. Louisman Dies in Hospital 40 Minutes After Drinking Carbolic Acid.
"I'm going to join my wife," announced Evis Johnson, 45 years old, as he walked into the insurance office of his nephew, Leo Johnson, in the Arcade building,
St. Louis, at 3 p. m. yesterday.
He handed the nephew an empty bottle which had contained carbolic acid. A physician was given, but he died at St. Mary's Hospital 40 minutes later.

Grief over the death of his wife, Rosalia, last month, is believed to have been the motive for his act.
He was a service agent in the employ of the East St. Louis and Sub-

WHITE HOUSE PROCLAMATION DESIGNATES EDUCATION WEEK

Coolidge Declares Large Numbers Have Not Been Reached by "Blessings of Education."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—In setting aside Nov. 14-22 as American Education Week, President Coolidge, in a proclamation yesterday declared that while in favored localities only one, two or three persons in a thousand between 16 and 29 are classed as illiterate, in the contemplation of worthy achievement "we must still be mindful that full provision has not yet been made throughout the country for education of either elementary, secondary or higher grade."

"Large numbers have not been reached by the blessings of education," the proclamation read. "The efficiency of the schools in rural communities is, in general, relatively low; too often their equipment is meager, their teachers poorly prepared and their terms short. 'High schools, notwithstanding their extraordinary growth, have not kept pace with the demand for instruction; even in great cities many students are restricted to half-time attendance and in outlying districts such schools are frequently insufficient in number or inadequate in quality."

"In higher education the possibility of existing institutions have been reached and it is essential that their facilities be extended or that junior colleges in considerable numbers be established."

Armenian's Rescue Planned.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News, Copyright, 1935. STOCKHOLM, Oct. 2.—"Armenians are the most unhappy people in the world," declared Carena Jeppa, commissioner of the League of Nations in Syria, who is visiting Stockholm. "Before the war the Armenians numbered 4,000,000. Now 1,000,000 have settled in the Soviet Russian state of Erivan. 1,500,000 have been expelled or killed. Many are living miserably in great distress as refugees in other states. 'Plans are under-way to rescue them on a large scale.'"

PORTUGUESE PRISONERS FREED

Leader of July Revolt Alone Is Held After Cabinet Meeting.

LISBON, Portugal, Oct. 2.—A possible revolutionary movement was discussed by the Cabinet council yesterday and later a semi-official note was issued declaring that the Government "would defend the republic at all points and maintain order with the support of the army, navy and republican guard."

Coincidentally the officers, non-commissioned officers and sailors, imprisoned on account of the revolutionary movement of July 19, last, were liberated with the exception of Capt. Cabecadas, Commander of the cruiser Vasco Da

Gama, leader of the movement. The committee for the defense of the republic is organizing a meeting for tomorrow to protest against the recent acquittal of prisoners alleged to have been implicated in the revolt of April 18.

HOW TO JUDGE HOSIERY WISELY

The clever way to make comparisons. How to get the utmost in value. How to analyze this important part of your apparel budget.

What need I pay, many women are asking, "to get good hosiery?" "Why do I have to buy so many pairs?" "Is hosiery poorer than formerly?" The answers are not so difficult as they seem. There are a few simple guides which everyone should know and follow.

The situation appears confusing but it is largely made so because of wild claims which one can easily analyze and come to the real truth.

Which can be saved every year will shop more cautiously. First, discount all wild claims. In instance, there is the subject of "full fashioned." The genuine "full fashioned" hosiery is hosiery which is knit to conform to the shape of the leg. Look for the seam which extends from toe to top of stocking.

Imitation "full fashioned" is the old style tubular hosiery with a fake seam merely up the back. There is no seam on the bottom of the foot.

The genuine "full fashioned" hosiery keeps its shape—while the tubular loses its shape after the first washing.

The chief guarantee in getting genuine "full fashioned" hosiery is the label of the manufacturer. For instance, when you buy Kayser hosiery you are guaranteed the genuine "full fashioned."

"Pure silk"—any one can claim.

"Pure dyes"—any one can claim.

So when one goes to the counter to buy, one cannot always tell by "feel" and "looks."

Some hosiery is weighted so as to make it feel heavier. If there is any skimping on the dyes—if the dyes are not used—the hosiery will rot and the life of the hosiery is shortened.

Again, your guarantee that the hosiery you buy is pure silk and pure dyes are used, depends on the label of the manufacturer. When you wear Kayser's, you are guaranteed pure silk and pure dyes—and you need have no doubts—you run no risk.

Your pocketbook will prove to you that pure silk and pure dyes give long wear and economy.

As to price?

To pay less than $1.50 is extravagant. For that amount you can get a very satisfactory hosiery—full fashioned—pure silk and pure dyes.

Naturally, if you pay more you get a higher grade with clocking, lace panels, etc.

What about "runs?" This is a constant annoyance to every woman. How disappointing it is to pay good money for a pair of hosiery only to find after wearing them a few times, that garter runs appear.

A clever invention ends this annoyance. It is called the Marvel Stripe. This is an exclusive feature in Kayser Hosiery and saves every Kayser wearer from expense and annoyance.

Style features? To slenderize the ankle, Kayser offers the Slipper Heel. This is a style feature which every woman appreciates.

Colors? While itemized last, this is of first importance to every woman at this time because of the desire for ensemble matching.

All the wanted colors and tints can be had in Kayser hosiery—thus combining the mode of the moment with long wear and economy. ... ..

While the hosiery situation is apparently so confusing, you will realize that after all it is really a simple matter to reduce your annual hosiery budget—the first requisite being to decide always to buy a high grade brand.

To specify Kayser and to insist upon it—is a safe way—an economical way. You get the best in beauty, the latest colors, and also economy.

Kayser hosiery is made with the principle ever in mind which will make women gladly say:

"I prefer Kayser hosiery because I get the finest and I save 25% per year."

You can buy fewer pairs if you wear Kayser's because they last longer. In making such a saving you sacrifice nothing to sheerness and luxury.

Like thousands upon thousands of other women, you will wear Kayser hosiery for a year, your pocketbook and your calendar will prove to you that there need be no puzzling questions in your mind as to how to judge hosiery wisely.

CONFERENCE ON FRENCH DEBT NOT A FAILURE

Good Deal More Accomplished at Meeting Than the Skeptics Had Ever Dreamed.

SOME AGREEMENTS OF IMPORTANCE

These Provisional Understandings Carry Negotiations Beyond Any Point Since 1918.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
A Special Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Joseph Caillaux, French Finance Minister, told members of the American Debt Funding Commission that he might be back here for another conference within six months.

From this as well as informal expressions during the debt negotiations of this week, the statement may be made that France intends to settle her war debt with America just as soon as there is political agreement in France.

For awhile on the surface it may appear as if the negotiations came to naught, the truth is a good deal more was accomplished than the skeptics ever dreamed. Provisional understandings were reached which carry the negotiations forward beyond any point they have been since 1918.

The Principal Achievement. Here are the principal achievements of the conference:

1. France recognizes formally her debt of $2,000,000,000 to this country, the amount already recognized of $407,000,000 far war supplies makes a total of more than three and a half billions of principal. No recognition of accrued interest of $500,000,000 was put down on paper.

2. America demonstrated conclusively to the French that the United States is more generous in her terms than Great Britain in the recent Caillaux-Churchill conference. This astounded the French, but the Americans worked it out in cold figures and the French are still pondering over the effect of this when French public opinion digests the truth.

3. America placed on record an argument that is somewhat new in this type of negotiation, namely, that it does not matter so much what a debtor country promises to pay 50 or 60 years hence but what is the present day market value of these promises to pay. In other words, America told France that an annual payment of $100,000,000 in the sixty-third year would not bring today 3 percent of that amount. Senator Smoot indeed remarked to M. Caillaux that the $500,000,000 of deferred payments which the French said they would be willing to pay in the six years following the expiration of the 45-year period would not bring today on the market a total of $20,000,000 in cash and that America might seriously consider forgiving such a sum if it were deferred and take $20,000,000 in cash.

Point Stressed by Americans. 4. The American drive home the point that actual cash payable in the next 12 years counted more than promises to pay in the succeeding 50 years.

5. The French actually signed a proposal which is an index of good will that cannot be underestimated, for many people here thought the whole trip to America was a gesture.

The American commission is confident that the French Government will find it difficult to reject the last American offer which is that the French pay $400,000,000 a year for five years which includes the $200,000,000 a year already being paid on war supplies bought after the armistice. America by proposing another debt parity at a body blow at the security clause idea which has been hanging over the negotiations from the start. Senator Smoot understood that he had assured his colleagues that it would be next to impossible to get through the Senate a security clause such as the French suggested.

Blow to Safeguard Clause. Instead America has pointed out if the debt is to be revised downward because Germany fails to pay it might as well be understood that it ought to be revised upward if France's capacity to pay becomes better than has been expected. There are indications that the French didn't expect the thing to work both ways and that this kind of tactics may see the end of future proposals about safeguard clauses.

What will be the immediate effect of the conference here? For one thing the French will consider a long time before turning down the American proposal. If they do, they will get no credits from American bankers. And although outwardly the French are anxious to make it appear they do not need new loans, the American Commission has information to the effect that French finances will require rearrangement with funds

Formal Statements Exchanged in Franco-American Negotiations

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The following statements changed between the American and French debt missions made public at the Treasury.

Under date of Sept. 28, replying to the second French offer, Secretary Mellon said: "We have had the privilege of considering your statement of this morning. We understand this to be a reaffirmation of your proposal to us of the 24th instant, that is, that you should pay $25,000,000 annually for the first five years, $30,000,000 annually for the following five years, $60,000,000 annually for the following 10 years, and $30,000,000 annually for the last 42 years, this sum completely to extinguish the indebtedness. We have stated the reasons why this sum in our opinion is inadequate."

"It seems to us that you consider the above proposed annuities are on application to your indebtedness to us of the principles discussed between France and England as applicable to the war debt of France to England. But we wish to point out that an examination of the existing settlements and tentative agreement between France and England disclosed an entire difference. We find that the principles of these arrangements, if applied to the debt of the United States, would imply a larger obligation upon the part of France to the United States than that contained in our proposal below."

"For instance, in its treatment with England, France has considered its indebtedness for surplus war stocks and the indebtedness from the Bank of France to the Bank of England for exchange purposes as ordinary commercial debts repayable in full at full current rates of interest. Already payment is being made on these two categories of obligations. On the British-French war debt proper there appears to be contemplated a settlement by the payment of an annuity of 12,500,000 pounds ($62,500,000) for 62 years."

Surplus War Stocks. "The $407,000,000 representing France's indebtedness to the United States for surplus war stocks is, of course, of the same character as the similar indebtedness to England. While there has been no separation into categories in the general debt of France to the United States, there are purposes to which the money loaned, by the United States, to the Americans worked out in cold figures and the French are still pondering over the effect of this when French public opinion digests the truth."

"These principles of settlement as applied to France's indebtedness to the United States would necessitate: "(1) The $407,000,000 of indebtedness for surplus war supplies would, in these terms, be treated as a commercial debt. It now bears five per cent interest and matures in 1929. If from the 15th of June, 1925, the interest rate be reduced to 4 1/2 per cent, the rate which we now pay on our Liberty Bonds and if the principal be made payable over a period of 20 years, then the annuity payments required would amount to over $30,000,000 per annum. This is parallel to the existing French agreement for payment of British surplus war supplies except that it is based on a lower rate of interest and upon a term of years more favorable to France than that accorded by England."

Maturing Commercial Debt. "(2)—$682,000,000 of the $2,333,000,000 of other indebtedness represents advances to make payments on maturing commercial obligations and in support of the franc in international exchange, and therefore on parallel lines to the advances made by the Bank of England to the Bank of France. If this sum were treated also upon a commercial basis and interest were calculated to June 15, 1925, at the rates paid by France to the Bank of England, the principal sum with accrued interest at that date would be $327,000,000, and if in this case also future interest be reduced to 4 1/2 per cent and the principal be repaid over a period of 20 years, the annuity required would be nearly $70,000,000. This again compares with the existing English-French settlement except that it is at lower rate of future interest and the principal is extended over a term of years more favorable to France."

"(3)—If an annuity over 62 years comparable to that mentioned in the British-French negotiations were applied to the remainder of our debt, it would imply an annuity payable to us of about $61,000,000 per annum, even without adjustment for the gold security involved in the British negotiations."

Total of Payments. "The net result of the application of the principles to the American debt would bring about that France should pay to the United States an annual sum of $161,000,000 for the first 20 years and $61,000,000 thereafter for 42 years. These payments would be altered if the annuity of $61,000,000 were deferred for the first seven years and added to the subsequent period, as discussed in London. It seems to us that these principles of repayment are infeasible to France in the application of its indebtedness to us."

"We had intended in our note of the 25th to indicate a basis which we believed would be a foundation for negotiations. We recognize the great difficulties under which the French Government is struggling and it is our utmost desire to meet them. We feel that such difficulties will be overcome within a few years and that our mutual problem is to take into account this expected improvement."

American Proposal. "You have requested that we should be more specific and we have now the pleasure of laying before you a definite proposal."

"(1)—We propose to consolidate the entire indebtedness into one total sum. The amount of this indebtedness as of June, 1925, with accrued interest at the rate of the existing French obligations, is about $4,227,000,000."

"We propose, however, the interest should be calculated upon the most favorable basis of our previous settlements under which the principal, with accrued interest, would as of June 15, 1925, amount to about $4,825,000,000, being a concession of over $600,000,000 in accrued interest."

"(2)—We propose that the French Government should undertake to pay the principal of the debt in annual installments graduated upward during the period of 62 years, as is the case of the other settlements made by the United States. This would require at the first year the sum of $20,000,000 on account of the principal, being approximately one-half of 1 per cent on the total principal, the payments on principal increasing gradually over the entire period of 62 years. You will recognize that in the arrangement of this schedule, it has been the desire of the American commission to so arrange the payments as to meet the economic and fiscal necessities of France."

"(3)—There therefore remains the question of the rate of interest to be paid upon the debt. In our desire to meet the difficulties of the French Government, and at the same time to provide that the American people may secure some return by participation in the increased strength and productivity to be expected in France, we propose that interest the first year shall be at the rate of one-half of 1 per cent per annum and that this rate shall increase each year by one-fourth of 1 per cent. This would bring an interest rate up to 3 1/4 per cent at the 12th year, and this to remain as the maximum for the balance of the period."

Reply to Final Offer. Secretary Mellon's reply to the final French offer, which was handed to the French mission, said: "We wish to express our high appreciation of the frank and earnest effort of our French colleagues to find a basis for settlement of this most difficult problem which confronts our two peoples."

"We have before us, the revised offer of the French commission, that is, France should pay $40,000,000 annually for the first five years, $60,000,000 annually for the following seven years, and $100,000,000 annually for the next 56 years, thus spreading payments over 68 years, there being important conditions attached to this proposal which render these payments entirely uncertain."

"The total payments offered imply a return of the principal of the debt and somewhat less than 1 per cent per annum. In order to illustrate the sacrifice which such a plan would impose upon our people, we may point out that the present value of the above payments, if made in full (upon the basis of interest which we bear on Liberty bonds), is about $1,750,000,000. This amount compares with over $4,100,000,000 which we have to meet in charges upon our taxpayers in respect of the loans to France. In the plan which we laid before you the present value of the payments which we proposed would be about $2,800,000,000 as compared with the $4,100,000,000 as above, so that we have made most important concessions."

"We believe it is fully recognized by both commissions that the only basis of negotiation fair to both peoples is the principle of the capacity of France to pay."

"The nub of the difficulty of the two commissions arises from a difference in judgment as to the future capacity of France to pay without, as we have stated, undermining her economic and social fabric and this difficulty narrows itself to the future rather than to the present. It is our purpose to accept the views of the French commission, as to the immediate difficulties of France."

$40,000,000 a Year. "In order that we shall not be unmindful of the effect of the proposed plan upon the whole problem and at the same time to maintain the agreed principle of settlement, and that there shall be no break in the effective continuity of our discussions, we wish to lay before you the following suggestion: We propose to accept the proposal made, we do propose that France shall undertake unconditionally to pay the $40,000,000 per annum mentioned in your statement as your capacity for the next five years."

"This is to be considered full current interest during the five-year period, and at the end of this five-year period the two Governments shall again review the capacity of France to pay and determine at that time the amounts which shall be paid over such further term as may be then agreed. The above is, of course, subject to the approval of Congress."

"It appears to us that within the period of five years the economic problem with which we are mutually confronted will have been much clarified and we shall both be in a position to make better determination. We know that it is the earnest desire of the American people not only to be just, but that they are willing to make necessary sacrifices. We believe that with peace, the natural progress of industry and commerce, and the recovering strength of France, a basis can be found at such later date which will meet the views of our two countries."

Caillaux's Statement. Caillaux made the following statement at the final joint meeting of the commissions: "Before we answer the proposition handed to us, we desire to say to our colleagues in the War Debt Commission—how highly we appreciate the constant courtesy shown to us and the efforts made to meet the difficulties which face our country."

"We are also mindful of the principles laid down by your notes regarding the unification of the debt and the reduction of the accrued interest. We furthermore note that you fully recognize the capacity of France to pay as the only basis for settlement of your debt toward the United States."

"We would have been happy to reach a genuine and final agreement, which within the limit that has been indicated, the French Minister of Finance has been entrusted to sign. The arrangement you now propose bears a provisional character which has not been contemplated by the Government of the republic."

"Consequently, being as desirous as you are not to interrupt the negotiations, which cannot fail to reach an agreement, the Minister of Finance can do no more than to submit to his colleagues of the French Cabinet in Paris the French proposals which you have made to-day and he will do his utmost to give you an answer as soon as possible."

OWNER OF TRUCK AND LOAD OF CANS SOUGHT BY POLICE. Driver, Arrested Because License Was Covered With Mud. Refuses to Make Statement. The police are attempting to trace ownership of a five-ton truck, which was found to contain 275 five-gallon cans, wrapped in sacks, when a motorcycle policeman arrested the driver last night because license plates of the truck were obscured with mud.

Motorcycle Policeman Freeman halted the truck at Kingshighway and Wichita street at 8:40 p. m. yesterday and a search of the truck revealed the cans. The driver, who described himself as Harry H. Rorert, 30 years old, of 2245 South Vandeventer avenue, refused to make any statement, police report.

TRAIN ROBBER KILLED AS HE LEAPS FROM CAR

On Second Successive Night He Had Held Up Passengers on Train Near Omaha.

By the Associated Press.
OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 2.—A continuation of his train-robbing activities of the night before ended fatally last night for R. A. Porter, for 22 years an employee of the Union Pacific Railroad.

Porter died at a local hospital late last night from gunshot wounds inflicted by Aubrey S. Kenworthy, special agent of the Union Pacific, who fired upon him as Porter alighted from the rear end of a passenger train on that railroad after robbing a score or more passengers in the observation car and two Pullmans.

The loot, consisting of $200 and several watches and some jewelry, was returned to the passengers. Porter boarded the train at an outlying station and encountered the negro porter in the vestibule of the observation car. Leveling a gun he commanded the negro to accompany him into the car where the passengers were ordered to stand in the aisle with their hands in the air while the negro searched them.

After robbing the four passengers in the observation car, the robber and his unwilling accomplice continued into the two Pullmans, where the operations were resumed. He told the negro that he was the same man who, "he night before, held up 25 passengers on a Missouri Pacific train as it was entering the railroad yards here."

In the second Pullman, Porter met the brakeman and told him to search the remaining passengers. When the last passenger had been searched the brakeman and company the robber to the rear end of the train.

Detectives Notified. Meanwhile, the negro made his way to the front of the car and informed passengers there of the robbery. W. S. Davis, a private detective, rushed toward the rear of the train and overtook the rob-

TWO MEN SHOT WHEN THEY FLEE AFTER MOTOR ACCIDENT

New York Fireman and Driver of Auto Wounded by Policemen When Car Injures Youth.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Two men, one of them a city fireman, were shot by policemen last night as they sped away in an automobile which had injured a boy alighting from a trolley car.

A woman passerby was grazed by a bullet. Five policemen pursued the machine in taxicabs until it crashed into a wall, a block distant.

The excitement began a few seconds after George Ballin, 17 years old, who had left the trolley car, was struck by the automobile and hurled into a gutter. The machine, containing three men, drove on.

Patrolman Philip Armstead, negro, leaped to the running board of the fleeing car. He was shoved to the pavement, but sprang to his feet and, with Patrolman Nicholas Gaffney, pursued the car on foot, firing six shots.

Armstead and Gaffney aimed for the driver's head and fired. Their shots scored. The driver, topless, was shot in the back of the head. Patrick Fitzhenry, 37, attached to a fire engine company, was wounded in the left jaw and ear. The wounded men were taken to a hospital, charged with assault and fleeing from the scene of a motor accident. A third man, identified as Joseph Restocci, 33, was held on similar charges.

her just as he reached the door. The robber opened fire and Davis retaliated from behind a refrigerator, which he used as a shield. He fired four shots, one of them wounding the robber in the leg. Davis was not hit.

As the train came to a halt the man leaped from the platform and was felled by bullets from Kenworthy's gun. The shots entered the skull. Kenworthy had been tipped that a recurrence of the previous night was likely and had stationed himself at a vantage point.

Porter's home was in Council Bluffs, Ia. An inquest was ordered for this afternoon.

BUSINESS MEN URGED TO GO AFTER MORE WORLD TRADE

Speaker at Luncheon Points Out Opportunities of Inland Cities Over Seaports.

St. Louis business was encouraged to take advantage of the opportunity for foreign trade by Trade Commissioner Edwin B. George in an address yesterday at the weekly luncheon of the World Trade Club at the Chamber of Commerce Building.

"St. Louis has as much right to foreign trade as any other city," he said. "The determining consideration, in most instances, is goods, not location. Even though increased transportation is disadvantageous to inland cities in some lines, there are many products which may be marketed in foreign countries more easily than those produced on the seaboard."

Many export managers and foreign consuls attended. Charles E. Sharp, president, presided. Lightning Kills Cow Being Milked. MAHESHFIELD, Mo. — When lightning struck a barn owned by Hugh Hyde, a farmer, during a recent storm, a cow in the building was being milked by Mrs. Hyde. The cow was killed and Mrs. Hyde was shocked.

ESTABLISHES COLONY ISLAND IN THE MISSISSIPPI

Owner of Tract of 5000 Acres Erects School Soon to be Tenants.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.
MOUNT VERNON, Ill. — An island in the Mississippi proved a novel experience to Cooper and Emory Young, two Jefferson County men, just returned from island life about 75 miles north of St. Louis. The island is owned by a tin, who bought it seven years ago for $40,000. Recently he paid $75,000 for the little island, 3000 acres.

The island is about seven long, a mile and three-quarters wide at the widest point and four-fifths of a mile at the narrow point. The owner farms it by all the land with eight or ten tenants. He plans the site of a modern school building and expects with educational ties to add to his island colony.

The island contains much timber consisting of pine, beech, cottonwood and poplar and is very fertile. It was planted in June, on which 40 to 50 bushels to the acre planted earlier and which has advantage of rain will yield 70 bushels to the acre.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MOUNT VERNON, Ill.—Life on an island in the Mississippi River proved a novel experience to Tom Cooper and Emory Youngblood, two Jefferson County men, who just returned from Island No. 1, about 75 miles north of Memphis. The island is owned by Roy Martin, who bought it seven years ago for $40,000. Recently he refused $75,000 for the little kingdom of 5000 acres.
The island is about seven miles long, a mile and three-quarters wide at the widest point and three-fourths of a mile at the narrowest point. The owner farms practically all the land with eight families as tenants. He plans the erection of a modern school building and expects with educational facilities to add to his island colony.
The island contains much valuable timber consisting principally of beech, cottonwood and pecan. The land is very fertile and corn planted in June, on which rain never fell, will this year produce 40 to 50 bushels to the acre. # BOY, 6, IS SPANKED FOR USING BASEBALL SLANG

Mother of Alexander Bascom Testifies at Hearing for Custody of Child.

Alexander Selkirk Bascom, 6 years old, was the subject of discussion at a hearing last night before Circuit Judge Wurdeman at Clayton to determine whether he is to be placed in the custody of his father, Frank H. Bascom of St. Louis or his mother, who divorced Bascom in 1922 and now is Mrs. Edward D. Meier of San Rafael, Cal. The boy was asleep at home. The hearing will be resumed tomorrow.
Mrs. Meier testified her son's deportment became very bad while he was in charge of his father. She said Alexander now talks baseball incessantly, uses slang to excess, is occasionally profane, and disrespects his mother.
"I spanked him recently, and he told me I did not amount to anything and ought to go back to California, where I came from. He said, 'You'll get hell for this.' He also said I was full of bunk," she said.
Mrs. Meier added that her son was a "worshiper" of Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Cardinals, and once acted hysterically when she refused to allow him to accompany his father to see the Cardinals. She declared the father is incompetent to rear the child.
Questioned as to her own habits, Mrs. Meier became tearful. She admitted she liked a cigarette or a highball occasionally.
Bascom is general manager of the Ben J. Selkirk & Sons Auction Co. Associated with him are Ben J. Selkirk Jr., and Alexander L. Selkirk, brothers of Mrs. Meier.

Shells in Manila Fort Explode.
By the Associated Press.
MANILA, Oct. 2.—A series of explosions broke the night stillness around Fort McKinley yesterday, terrifying thousands of nearby residents and shaking the surrounding country. No one was injured.
Investigation showed the explosions had occurred in the fort magazine, where 27,000 three-inch trench mortar shells were stored. Army officers attributed the explosions to disintegrations of the war materials. Fort McKinley is about five miles from Manila.

BOND ADVISERS CAUSE DELAY IN CITY WORK

For Second Time in Two Weeks Quorum Fails to Appear at Meetings.

For the second time in two weeks since their summer vacation, members of the Citizens' Supervisory Bond Issue Committee were not present in sufficient number yesterday to form a quorum. Ordinances which would appropriate $1,500,000 of bond issue funds are held in abeyance for action of the committee.

Frank H. Gerhart, Arthur Stoelr, John J. Dowling and A. S. Werre were the only members present yesterday, while nine were absent for a quorum. Seven were absent a week ago.

Three ordinances were presented to the committee yesterday which would appropriate $1,500,000 for the purchase of equipment for the low and high intake pits. While these pits are only under construction, it will take a long time to manufacture the equipment. Included are two 20,000-gallon pumps, two of 40,000-gallon capacity and one of 60,000-gallon capacity, and four 650-horsepower boilers. Another bill provides for the right-of-way in St. Louis for the water conduit.

Other bills presented yesterday are for $50,000 for a road connecting Kingshighway and West Florissant avenue through Pennington Park and for trees and shrubbery in that park, and $15,000 for park and playground equipment. Other bills in abeyance, presented previously are for a section of the River des Peres sewer, a bridge over the stream at Southwest avenue and motor fire apparatus. The committee is requested to the supervisory committee for approval of the appointment of Theodore Hemmelmann Jr., John H. Parish and former Mayor Frederick H. Kresman as appraisers of property to be acquired by the city through direct purchase as part of the Memorial Plaza site. For this purpose, $1,000,000 has been provided. The comptroller proposes that the appraisers shall serve as a fee, to be divided among them, 50 per cent of the appraised value.

DEATH OF WIFE ENDS BEDSIDE VIGIL OF BEN TURPIN

When Picture-Comedian Gave Up Work and Took Her to Shrine in Canada.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 2.—Ben Turpin's long vigil at the bedside of his invalid wife was at an end today. They were brought to Hollywood 10 years ago by Charlie Chaplin.

Last December she became critically ill and in the succeeding months suffered several strokes of paralysis, and the illness came near getting on points but the street car is still being driven by her.

'BEST ST. LOUIS GRASS' BEING SOWN AT SHAW'S

Display of Washington Bent Being Arranged at Botanical Gardens.

Washington bent, the grass pronounced best in all respects for St. Louis lawns by experts at Shaw's Garden, after several years' experimentation, is being sown in the plaza about the Lily pools between the Flora place entrance of the garden and the Palm House.

The grass is darker, richer and a softer carpet than other lawn grasses of this locality, and its greater hardiness saves it from the "rustiness" that mars most St. Louis lawns by late July or August. The planting in the central plaza, George H. Pring, horticulturist, explained, is not only to show it off to the interested visitors, but also for the sake of its dark rich background to the gleaming pools, varicolored lilies and graystone buildings.

These lilies, in a subtle scale of pink and blues and star-like white, including world-famous varieties originated here by Pring, are an arresting spectacle from the entrance. At each corner of the western ends of the two square pools will be observed tall green reeds, with a fluted triangular stem ending in a spray of spikelets.

Few know that these are the papyrus, from which the Egyptians made paper in the early dawn of literature, not much later than 2500 B. C. It was the common tablet was of Rome, and the clay was of Assyria. Prodigious rolls were buried with the dead. One such specimen is said to be 150 feet long.

Egyptian paper was made by pressing out two layers of the pith laid at right angles, into a sheet made smooth by the natural gum of the reed. Small reeds were woven into baskets, and larger ones, bound together to make boats.

Take a Lesson from Nature Keep Pores Clean to Their Very Roots

—and naturally only a fine completely dissolving soap can do this Nature intended you to be good looking. And nature's first law for skin health and beauty is "Keep Pores clean—all the way down!"

Few soaps can do this; their mealy, grainy ingredients merely clog pores—blemishes and discolorations result.

If you really want good looking skin, you must use Jap Rose. Its pure, fine ingredients completely dissolve in water and can therefore enter the tiniest pores, pass through them, remove dirt, cosmetics, etc.

a real shampoo!! Jap Rose cleanses the hair and scalp of all dirt and oil. After the shampoo your hair is soft, wavy and looks new—until instead of 'wild' and unruly.

the MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce in brief the latest comment by the city publishers, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

STREET CAR AND MOTORBUS.

The Harrisburg Telegraph. "N. army," says Forbuck Magazine "marching four abreast and stretching a column that would encircle the earth—over 6,000,000 miles—that is the size of an army that would be represented by passengers carried last year by the street railways of America. Absolutely 16,900,000,000 passengers were carried."

Apparently the street car is not nearly as uneconomical as some folks would make believe, with its burden of price increases, groggy for a time, the unregulated had it within an ace of taking the and the driver came near getting on points but the street car is still being driven by her.

Lines not overcapitalized too heavily striking their way out of their troubles, population grows and the suburbs unless some fresh obstacle non-existent looms up to prevent the street cars will shortly be back on a paying basis. That is, unless, instead of making their servant they try to drive of business.

GEN. LEE TO HIS WIFE.

LAS FREEMAN in Scribner's Magazine for October.

Never forget (what sentimental men forget!) the incidents of the wedding at the end of June, 1864, when the wife of the Federal already was bow-shouldered, he wrote from Petersburg anniversary, wrote very simply, with warmth of a love that had survived separation:

You recollect what a happy day it was to this was? How many hopes and it gave birth to! God has been merciful and kind to us, and how and sinful I have been. I pray may continue His mercies and blessings, and give us a little peace and cheer in this world, and finally and all He has given us around in the world to come. The has just arrived and I must bring to a close."

PENNSYLVANIA DUTCH.

BERICOVICI in the October Century.

IN 1683 a systematic German immigration into this country began. It was that year a party of Mennonites and-eye people" now living all country, came from the German field and landed near Philadelphia owned by William Penn, upon which they came. Some time founded Germantown, six miles Philadelphia. Shortly afterward, waves of almost equal numbers, one after the other and settling Pennsylvania. At the time of the one-third of the population of Pennsylvania was of German birth or soon mixing with the Dutch that they formed a virtually unbroken mass. More or less a compilation of the two, which is known as Pennsylvania Dutch.

REFORESTATION IN BRITAIN

LONDON.—Extensive steps for the reforestation of Britain are being undertaken by the Forestry Commission, and nearly 40,000,000 trees a year are to be planted in an endeavor to revivify the forest wealth of the country.

The trees are being planted chiefly on what was formerly waste land. Twenty-two thousand acres yearly are to be planted and an average of 1800 trees will be planted to the acre.

WARNING GIVEN LANDSDOWNE ABOUT CHANGE IN VALVES

Bureau Told Captain Altered System Was Not as "Foolproof" as Original Plan.

By the Associated Press. LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 2.—In approving the gas-valve system change in the airship Shenandoah, the Bureau of Aeronautics at Washington warned those on the ship that the new system was not as "fool proof" as the original installation and that extreme care should be taken in the operation of the ship.

This was disclosed today before the naval court of inquiry here by the reading into the record of the official correspondence that passed on the subject between Commander Zachary Lansdowne, captain of the ship, and the Bureau of Aeronautics.

Changes in the valve system first were suggested by Lansdowne as early as Sept. 16, 1924, but finally were not approved by the bureau until May 28, 1925, and then only with a warning from Capt. E. S. Land, construction corps, attached to the bureau. This warning was renewed on June 13, 1925, in a letter signed by Commander H. C. Richardson, construction corps, by direction of the chief of the bureau.

This correspondence shows that Commander Lansdowne not only recommended the change, but that when there was delay in acting on his recommendation he sent a telegram requesting telegraphic authorization for carrying out the work. Approval then was given "by way of experiment" and it was added that the necessary precautions should be taken in operating the ship.

On June 13, 1925, Commander Richardson wrote that in view of the change there should be use of the maneuvering valves to discharge gas whenever that should become necessary in flight.

Capt. Land's letter of May 28 said:

"The modified arrangement of valves proposed for the Shenandoah is not as foolproof as the original installation. The proposed arrangement imposes an added reason for cautious operation of the ship near pressure height. If for any reason the ship gets out of control and is driven above pressure height the consequences will be serious. However, on the assumption that the operating personnel realizes and accepts the operating practice which is involved and will take the necessary precautions the rearrangement of gas valves and trunks as proposed is approved by way of experiment."

A report after three months' experience with the modified installation was called for.

Safe Rate of Ascent Cut.

In his letter of June 13, 1925, Commander Richardson said that calculations indicated that the change in the valve system would cut in half the safe rate of ascent of the ship, in other words from 800 to 400 feet a minute. He added:

"The bureau notes the argument that a very small gas valve capacity was found to be sufficient on the West Coast flight. In this connection the bureau invites attention to the fact that in that flight no very rapid ascents above pressure heights occurred. It is considered that the maximum gas capacity is likely to be required only in the event of the airship being suddenly carried upward in a vertical current during a squall. It is understood that the Shenandoah has never been subjected to this condition although it quite conceivably may occur, and the total gas valve capacity must be sufficient to provide for it."

"It is known that Zeppelin airships have occasionally burst gas cells due to insufficient valve capacity when rising rapidly in thunderstorms. Zeppelin practice is to provide for a rate of ascent of at least three meters per second or about 600 feet per minute—five meters per second was preferred."

"With the limited automatic gas valve capacity which will remain after completion of the changes now in progress, the rate of ascent in extreme conditions must be carefully watched and the gas cells relieved of excessive pressure by opening the maneuvering valves if necessary."

At the outset there was some discussion between Commander Lansdowne and the bureau with reference to the use of a combination automatic and maneuvering valve to replace the original system, but after some experimentation, this type was abandoned.

On Dec. 15, 1924, Commander Lansdowne renewed his recommendation for a change in the valve system, saying the German design was "based upon two considerations which do not obtain at present; operation with hydrogen gas and operation in time of war."

"With the use of helium," he said, "the use of the internal gas manifold for equalizing purposes during flight provides a means of keeping all of the bags at the same pressure. The ideal scheme therefore would be to make the gas manifold larger and consider it a permanent part of the gas cell installation providing an automatic valve on each end of the manifold. These valves would give ample protection to the gas bags under present operating conditions. Should conditions arise as to necessitate faster valving the maneuvering valves could always be used in an emergency."

TWENTY ROADHOUSE LICENSE APPLICATIONS ARE FILED

St. Clair County Commissioners Adopt Maximum Fee With Extra One for Dancing.

Twenty applications for licenses to conduct roadhouses have already been filed with County Clerk Lillian Hoerr of Belleville by proprietors of such establishments in St. Clair County. Under a law enacted by the Illinois Legislature and which became effective last July, roadhouses located outside of cities and villages can be required to get licenses of $25 per year. The Board of Supervisors at Belleville fixed the license fee at the maximum and also provided in its resolution that where a dance is conducted in connection with a roadhouse an additional $25 can be charged.

FIVE MEN ROB UNION OFFICIAL OF $900

Bricklayers' Treasurer Says He Was Forced Into Auto and Beaten Before Funds Were Taken.

George C. Schaumburg, treasurer of the local Bricklayers' Union reported he was held up, kidnapped and robbed of $900 cash and other property of the local as he was on his way home from a meeting at union headquarters, 1667 Finney avenue, last night. He resides at 4327 Taft avenue.

Schaumburg said he got off a Cherokee street car at Taft and Gravois avenues, about 10:30 o'clock, and was walking toward his home when two men, who had been talking with three other men in an automobile parked at the curb, suddenly covered him with revolvers, ordered his hands up and pushed him in the car.

The car then sped away. Four of the five strangers in the car had their faces masked with handkerchiefs, and all took turns beating him with fists and weapons. Schaumburg reported. He said he told them, "You don't need to worry, it don't belong to you."

At Christy and Wallace avenues they pushed him out, after taking the $900, a check for $200, 10 smaller checks, a checkbook and union papers, he said. The loss is insured. Schaumburg was bruised about the face and body.

At 8:15 a. m. today, two white men invaded the basement home of Mrs. Hattie Williams, negro, 2152 Scott avenue, gagged, cut mouth and tied her to a bedstead, and then took a money belt containing $285 from her and escaped. She got rid of the gag and called for a policeman, who cut the ropes.

A Shriner's diamond pin, and a tomatic pistol, a revolver and $10 were stolen last night from the residence of Wilford Yackey, 4223 Flora place.

ING VICTORY FOR CAILLAUX, VIEW OF LONDON EXPERTS

Despite He Obtained From America Makes It Impossible to Tighten British Terms.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON, London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

London, Oct. 2.—Announcement of the compromise Franco-American debt agreement reached here last night. When informed by the New York World and Post-Dispatch correspondent over the telephone that the United States had accepted $40,000,000 a year for five years, leaving the question of further payments open until 1939, several British officials and experts agreed that Finance Minister Caillaux had won a great victory.

Caillaux told Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill and private members here at the close of his negotiations with Great Britain that the United States would grant him better terms than Britain had granted, but the general impression was that he would run up against a snag. That he has secured a respite of five years for France, at a cost of $200,000,000, it was admitted informally, will make it impossible for Churchill to ask any higher payments from France than those agreed upon.

All authorities with whom it was possible to communicate expressed the strongest feeling of relief at the compromise. Poisonment of the issue of final settlement for five years is regretted, but even temporary abating of the debt issues is considered promising for French credit and exchange stabilization.
The opinion was expressed by two experts—respite of five years is principally to be welcomed because the United States is likely to be more generous at the end of that time than now.

The arrangement is likely to have political repercussions here, unfavorable to Premier Baldwin.
The anti-ministerial press and politicians will certainly make use of the opportunity to say that Bal-win could have made a better deal for Britain and that Caillaux has proved it. But there is no possibility of any concerted move here to ask the Government for revision of

'POLITICIAN LEADS ACTOR'S LIFE UNDER DISCIPLINE OF CLERGY'

Robert J. Kratky, Miller's Campaign Manager, Addresses American Legion in Belleville.

"The politician leads the actor's life but is liable to the discipline of the clergy," Robert J. Kratky, campaign manager for Mayor Miller, said in an address last night before the American Legion and associated patriotic societies in Belleville.

He said that modern practical political thought leaned toward securing public commendation through achievement in government affairs and not in the old practice of obtaining strength through granting of political "favors."

"The public man elects the life of publicity and must assume its liabilities," he said. "One of these, in a democratic age, is a certain discipline which will make his life appear consistent and a nemesis of his public professions. The attitude of the public is not Puritanism so much as a sense of solemnity. It will be indulgent to one who is expected to do these things and ruthless to another who is not expected to do them."

PROF. SEE SAYS HE HAS FOUND CAUSE OF GRAVITATION

Declares That Ether, 47 Billion Times Less Dense Than Hydrogen, Holds Universe Together.

SPEED FASTER THAN FASTEST ELECTRON

Ultimate Particle 4000 Times Smaller Than Molecule—Its Flight Gives Velocity to Light.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—In a statement issued today Capt. T. J. See, professor of mathematics, United States Navy, and Government astronomer at Mare Island, said that he had completed confirmation of the ether-wave theory as an explanation of the physical cause of "universal gravitation."

Prof. See said that his announcement follows exhaustive experiments and computations based on the works of several famous scientists, including Sir Isaac Newton, who formulated the law of gravitation; the French astronomer, Laplace; the scientists Halley and Fourier; and the famous architect, Sir Christopher Wren.

Extremely Tenuous.

High points of his announcements were:

That his theory explains the motions of the planets, their attraction for one another together with the nature and speed of light and sound waves.

The ether, is a substance, but many, many times more tenuous than air. In fact, the ultimate particle of ether is 4000 times smaller in diameter than the hydrogen molecule. Ether is forty-seven billion times less dense than hydrogen. Ether's tenuousness is such that it attains a speed 23.5 times faster than the flight of the fastest electron.

Despite the highly attenuated form of ether, making it entirely imperceptible to the senses of man, there is so much of it that its weight and its waves serve to hold in place the countless suns and planets throughout the universe.

Prof. See referred to the ether as "the world gas," and further said: "Its particles travel 87 per cent faster than light or 294,000 miles per second; it is 693,321,600,000 times more elastic than air in proportion to its density; the rapid flight of the etheron, the most minute particle in existence, accounts for the velocity of light and the bending of radio waves about the earth."

Something of the strength and pulling power of the ether, which is supposed to envelope and permeate everything in the universe, was given by See as follows:

"Exact calculation shows that if we had five trillion cables of steel, each a foot in diameter, and the steel capable of lifting 20 tons to the square inch of the cross section, this whole giant forest of steel cables would be stretched to the breaking point to hold the moon in its orbit about the earth. To hold the earth in its orbit about the sun would require an 11-inch cable of steel steel on each square foot of a hemispherical cross section of our globe, which practically would cover the earth's surface with such a forest of steel cables, each stretched to the limit of its tensile strength."

ANNUAL BUTTERFLY MIGRATION BEGINS EARLIER THAN USUAL

Thousands Seen in Texas, in Their Flight Southward; in Lines About a Mile Wide.

AUSTIN, Tex.—During the last two weeks residents, both in town and country, in this part of the State have noted the great numbers of butterflies of all species flying slowly southward.

Their numbers are more pronounced in driving along a road running east and west as in this way they can be seen more easily. Sometimes they seem to be in lines about a mile wide and again they spread over wide sections. The smaller the butterfly the closer they fly to the ground. The large monarch butterflies fly high and at times seem almost to fill the air. At night they settle over trees and shrubs in countless thousands.

This migration is taking place earlier this year than ever before.

SURVEY OF RURAL SCHOOLS

Stress Laid on Physical Properties in Greene County, Mo.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—A survey of the rural schools of Greene County, with especial stress on the physical properties, has been begun by the Greene County Health Unit, under the auspices of the State Board of Health. This survey, by an organization supported wholly by State, county and city funds, is expected to be the forerunner of similar surveys in the various counties of the Missouri Ozarks.

While the survey ranges from the condition of the foundation of the building to the attitude of patrons of the district toward vaccination, the major share of attention is devoted to the water supply and the toilet arrangements.

FEE CONTRACT COVERING ROAD OIL AWARD HINTED

Essex's Son and County Committee Chairman Deny Knowledge of Agreement in $53,800 Deal.

Taking depositions will be resumed next Friday in the $53,800 contract for 1,000,000 gallons of road oil, which the St. Louis County Court awarded to the Cabell Petroleum Co. last spring, when the company's president played host to two members of the court and other office-holders and politicians at pinoche-and-chicken parties.

Those who gave depositions yesterday were County Judges William J. Preis and George S. Bob-ring, Albert Autenrieth, chairman of the Republican Central Committee, and Roy Essen, son and political pupil of Fred Essen, Republican boss of the county.

Those who failed to appear were Fred Essen and Presiding Judge
Richard S. Smiley of the County Court. Essen's absence was attributed to sudden illness. Judge Smiley could not be located when wanted.

Supporting the injunction suit is the Taxpayers' League, of which George W. Baumhoff is president.
The plaintiff in the suit is a league member, William M. Boaz of Kirkwood, a real estate dealer and a director of the County Leader, a newspaper published at Clayton.
The depositions were taken in the Clayton offices of William J. Heege, who is associated with Ephraim Caplan of St. Louis as counsel for Boaz.
County Counselor John A. Nolan sat in.

Chicken and Pinoche.
As reported exclusively in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, Judge Preis admitted meeting Carrington Cabell, head of the Petroleum company, at Busch's Grove, a roadhouse on the Clayton road, two days before he voted with Judge Bobring, against Judge Smiley, to give Cabell's company the contract, although it was not the lowest bidder. The Cabell company has offices in the Arcade Building.

Judges Preis and Bobring admitted partaking of a chicken banquet with Cabell and others at the roadhouse immediately following the contract award. They told of playing pinoche with Cabell, and Preis boasted of his skill and winnings. Each Judge denied that he had any note which was paid by someone after the contract went to Cabell.

Fred Essen had been subpoenaed to testify. About 10 a. m. he met Attorney Caplan and told him he would be in his Watchman-Advocate newspaper office and would come right over to Heege's office when notified he was wanted.
About 3:30 the office was called.
His son, Roy, answered and said his father had been taken ill suddenly and would be unable to testify.

Judge Smiley, a Democrat and adversary of his Republican colleagues, had telephoned at 11 a.
m. that he would be at Heege's office within 15 minutes. He did not arrive, and could not be located throughout the afternoon.

The depositions of Roy Essen and Autenrieth consisted mainly of denials.

Young Essen Makes Denial.
Roy Essen denied he had ever recommended the Cabell Co. bid to the County Court, or that he knew of any written contract by which certain parties guaranteed the road oil contract to the Cabell Co. in return for a "commission." He denied he had ever met G. S. Forcier, an oil man, living in St. Louis County, and told him to "go and see Autenrieth about getting the oil contract." He admitted he knew Finis P. Ernst, proprietor of oil filling stations in East St. Louis.

"Didn't you tell Ernst you would get the oil contract for him if he could come to terms with you?"
Attorney Caplan asked.

"I did not," Essen replied.

"Were you not present in the office of E. McDonald Stevens, a Clayton attorney, when a written contract was drawn up concerning the oil contract?"

"No."

"Before the oil contract was awarded, were you not present when a written agreement was made with the Cabell Co. as the party of the first part and other parties as of the second part, which guaranteed the latter a commission for getting the oil contract?"

"No."

"Have you any stock or other interest now, or in the past, in the Cabell Co.?"

"No."

The witness denied further that he is the indorser of any note for Judge Preis or Judge Bobring or that he knows any such notes exist. He denied being present at the roadhouse banquet celebrating the Cabell Co.'s success in getting the oil contract.

Testimony of Autenrieth.
Chairman Autenrieth denied in his deposition that he exerted any influence on the oil contract award, that he had ever talked to Forcier, Ernst or Cabell about the oil contract. He declared he knew nothing about notes of County Court Judges, or of any "commission" contract. He contradicted Judge Bobring's testimony that Auten-rieth was among those present at the chicken and pinoche festival.

It was learned today that a notary public, who is said to have witnessed the alleged "commission" contract, has since died.

Among those, in addition to Fred Essen and Judge Smiley, whom counsel for Boaz plan to summon to give depositions, are Cabell, Forcier, Ernst and William Seibel, former County Clerk.

Judge Smiley's Statement.
Judge Smiley today said his failure to testify yesterday was due to his being downtown shopping.
In his deposition, he said, he will testify that he opposed awarding the contract to the Cabell Co. on the ground it had supplied a poor grade of oil to the county in 1933.

under another contract, that it had not submitted samples, and its price was too high.

He will also testify, he said, that while the bids were under consideration Judges Preis and Bobring were called from the bench several times by Autenrieth and William Seibel, former County Clerk, who engaged them in conversations.
He said the award to the Cabell
Co. was "outrageous."

Judge Smiley revealed, incidentally, that Cabell is in the habit of giving chicken dinners to public officials. In 1933, he said, after Cabbell obtained a road oil contract,

he and the other County Judges, Daniel Sheerin and John S. Steffan, feasted on chicken at Busch's Grove. Cabell was present and offered to supply whisky, but his offer was not accepted, according to Smiley. Smiley said the party was "very orderly" and no card games were played.

On Face. Sore Eruptions

"My trouble began with a break-

BOOKS OF MISSING BROKER'S FIRM UNDER INVESTIGATION

Employe of New Yorker, Fleeing Charge as Grave Robber, Says Accounts Are in Bad Condition.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 2.—The books of the Mobino Brokerage Co., insurance underwriters here, of which Fred G. Beale, missing since last Friday, is president and general manager, are under scrutiny. Beale is facing indictment as a grave robber, the evidence being that he sought by a funeral to give the impression that he himself was dead.

Robert S. Parsons, treasurer of the company, says that the accounts were in a serious condition. An accountant has been called to audit the books.

State troopers are checking up persons from whom Beale is believed to have collected money last week, just prior to the time his automobile was found, burned and wrecked near Hancock. Concealed underneath it was a charred body, at first believed to be that of Beale, but later identified as that of James H. Davis of Hancock. The body had been taken from a cemetery nearby.

From Miami, Fla., came word that Mrs. Dorothy Bolger, Beale's former stenographer and her husband, Charles Bolger, had voluntarily appeared at police headquarters and had convinced the authorities that she was not implicated in the affair.

Beale's family believes there are some details which, when explained, will clear his name. His father has pledged himself to leave no stone unturned to find his son.

Drives Into Wrong Garage.
By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—A few hours after highwaymen robbed M. J. Mead, Los Angeles restaurant man, of $1500 on a road south of here, Fred Farino, declared by Mead to have been the driver of the robbers' car, drove the machine into the same garage where Mead had parked his automobile. "Fatalism," Mead contends. "Bunk," says Farino. He's in jail. Officers say he has a police record.

MEDICAL LICENSE FRAUD INVESTIGATION CONTINUES

Dr. Stewart, Secretary of State Health Board, to Appear Before Grand Jury at Kansas City.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 2.—

The Jackson County grand jury still is investigating the alleged frauds in connection with the issuing of medical licenses by the State Board of Health when Dr. Cortes F. Enloe of Jefferson City was a member of that body.

Dr. R. R. Horton, Purdy, Mo., also is under investigation.

Dr. Charles T. Borders and Dr. C. F. Rieger, Kansas City physicians, were called as witnesses yesterday. Each was in the grand jury room for only a short time.

Dr. James Stewart of Jefferson City, secretary of the State Board of Health, who was here yesterday, did not go before the jury. He went to St. Joseph, Mo., late yesterday and spoke at a medical meeting there last night. It was said that he would return to Kansas City today and appear before the grand jury this afternoon.

Dr. Horton has been charged with forgery in connection with his fiduciary on file before the Medical Board.

MAN AND WIFE SHOT IN MOONSHINE FEUD

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pisholte Wounded, Alleged Assaultants Under Arrest.

While Police Captain Nally was announcing a theory today that the shooting of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pisholte, Italian, on the front porch of their home, 1437 1/2 North Sixteenth street, last night, was the result of a whisky deal, Pisholte was telling a Post-Dispatch reporter at City Hospital that this was exactly the case.

The police have under arrest Vincenzo Moncado, 40 years old, of 1305 Carr street; Samuel Moncado, 18, of 2318 Chouteau avenue, and Frank Bennici, 33, of 2321A Chouteau avenue. All three have been identified, according to the police, as the assaultants of the Pisholtes, by Gus Pisholte, a son of the victims, and a boy witness, and the elder Pisholte identified the elder Moncado.

"Vince Moncado, Frank Bennici and me ran a still out in the country maybe two years ago," Pisholte told the reporter. "Sure, everybody's doing it; everybody's got a still. They took $500 worth of booze from me and we argued. Vince said he was going to shoot me, but I didn't think so. Last week Vince and Frank drove by my house slow, but did nothing. Last night I saw them coming slow again, but that didn't scare me. Then my wife and I were shot."

Two or three shots were fired, at 8:45 p. m., witnesses said. One bullet struck Pisholte in the left shoulder and fractured his collar bone. His wife suffered exactly the same injury from another bullet. The car sped away. Gus Pisholte said Samuel Moncado was driving it, with the others in the back.

The three men arrested, who have made no statement to the police, were found in an automobile at Fourteenth and Carr streets at 11 p. m. Police raided the nearby home of Vincenzo Moncado's sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Colombo, at 1022 North Fourteenth street, and reported they found four loaded revolvers.

Pisholte and his son by a former marriage, Gus, conducted a fruit store at 3144 Chouteau avenue up to a few weeks ago, but claim to have quite the business because the police repeatedly looked for liquor in the store. On Aug. 11 they were arrested there after Pisholte, broke two bottles in the yard and two revolvers were found in the store.

Pisholte is 48 and has been in this country 25 years. His wife is 33.

BAR TO CONTINUE FIGHT FOR HIGHER REQUIREMENTS

Committee on Legal Education of State Association Reports Gain in Favorable Sentiment.

The determination of the Missouri Bar Association to continue its campaign for elevation of educational requirements for admission to practice of law in the State is declared in the report of its Committee on Legal Education, submitted today at the Association's annual meeting here.

The Association seeks to make the equivalent of a two-year college education the basic educational requirement. Only the equivalent of a grammar school course and a "fair knowledge" (whatever that means, the committee comments) of history, literature and civil government, now is required. The bill to raise the requirements has failed in two Legislatures. The committee comments that when it opened its campaign not a few thought it would require 10 years of persistent assault upon public sentiment and the Legislature to win. "Those best qualified to judge" now estimate that the time will be much shorter.

Gaining in Legislature. The basis of this prophecy is that, while in the 1923 Legislature scarcely half a dozen votes could have been mustered for the bill, in the 1925 Legislature, it has the support of 22 members of the House and lacked only four votes of passage in the Senate. Sentiment within the profession, divided at first, now is said to be solidly behind the bill.

Excepting possibly six states, Missouri has the lowest educational requirements for admission to the bar of all the states of the Union," the report states. "Thus, while the physician, the dentist, the optometrist and the nurse are required to have a high school education, it is not necessary in Missouri that a member of the learned profession of the law ever have attended even a common or grammar school.

During the three years, 1922-24, of the 1155 applicants for admission to the bar, only 437, or 37 per cent, had graduated from any law school, and 308, or about 26 per cent, had less than a high school education.

Case of Many Legal Ills. "It has been manifest for some time that inadequate educational training of those admitted to the bar has been responsible for many of the ills suffered by clients, by the legal profession and by the public.

The penalty upon the client, the report points out, is poorly tried cases, entailing financial losses. The legal profession suffers in loss of public esteem. The public suffers particularly severely, because it is the lawyer who drafts laws, is influential in their passage, who executes them, and interprets and judicially administers them.

The chief opposition to the raising of educational standard, the report declares, is voiced around the so-called "poor boy" argument—that poor boys would be denied their opportunity to become lawyers. In answer the report says, "In this day when so much of our substance is spent to put education within the reach of everybody, no matter how poor or how humble he may be, we contend that any young man worthy to be a lawyer and intellectually capable to equip himself as this bill requires and that it is not only unfair to the public but it is also unfair to the profession and unfair to the young man, himself, to bring him to the bar without this equipment. In practically every section of Missouri there is either a university, a college, a normal school or a junior college where a boy can get at least two years of college work. There are 21 such institutions in the State. Last year there were 10,083 boys attending these institutions. Of these, there were earning their way in whole or in substantial part, 4027, or 40 per cent.

"Surely in the light of these statistics the 'poor boy' argument vanishes utterly. It has been interesting to observe that the strongest champions of this bill, both in our State and elsewhere, worked their way through college or law school."

Opposed by Night Schools. Other opposition lies with night law schools, such as Benton College of Law and City College of Law and Finance, both of St. Louis. The committee declares that this opposition is largely a selfish, financial interest, as these schools do not now conform to standards that would be set by the new bill. The committee feels that the night schools ultimately will be benefited, in preventing the establishment of other night schools with requirements even lower than those now operating.

Cuba to Deport Spaniard. By the Associated Press. HAVANA, Oct. 2.—Jose Cuxart, a native of Spain, under arrest on the charge of plotting the assassination of President Machado, has been ordered deported. Cuxart, the police assert, planned to shoot the President. Forty-five Spaniards also are slated for deportation because of propaganda against the Government and labor agitation.

INCREASE IN TAX ASSESSMENTS OF ELECTRIC FIRMS

State Commission Almost Doubles Valuation of Companies in Various Parts of State.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 3.—
Confronted with drastic increases in their assessed valuations by the State Tax Commission for 1937, ranging in some instances as high as 100 per cent, the electric light and power companies of the State now waiting for their final hearings before the State Board of Equalization with a somewhat uncertain hope that they will be able to persuade the board to make heavy reductions.

The joint has been administered to the electric light and power companies in their first year of assessment under the Tax Commission and Board of Equalization. Heretofore these companies have been assessed locally, together with gas companies, which still remain under local assessments.

Assessment of the Union Electric Light and Power Co. of St. Louis has been more than doubled in the tentative assessment fixed by the Tax Commission, as forecast in the Post-Dispatch.

The company made a tax return of $15,712,938 to the commission, but this return included some real estate and other property still assessed locally. The plant equipment and other property in the return, properly coming under the Tax Commission, was given a value by the company of $11,182,014 for taxation purposes. The commission fixed a tentative assessment of $25,612,227, but has not certified its recommendation to the Board of Equalization, which fixes the final assessment for 1937 taxes.

The Kansas City Light and Power Co. made a tax return of $12,488,000, but the Tax Commission fixed the tentative assessment at $20,351,000.

Property of the Springfield Gas and Electric Co. was returned at $200,000, but the commission increased this to $528,337. Electric Light and Power property at St. Joseph, returned at $2,550,000, was increased to $4,175,584. The Mercury company made a return of $115,433, but this figure was increased to $262,620. The Empire District Co. at Joplin returned $440,240, and was increased to $628,471. Smaller companies of the State were increased on a corresponding scale.

Effect on Rates.
Thus far the commission has declined to make public its tentative assessments pending transmission of its recommendations to the Board of Equalization.

The electric light and power companies of the State, as a class, have been faring better on earnings than other public utilities, according to public utility men. Representatives of the companies say the proposed increases in tax assessments will preclude possibility of any rate reductions in the immediate future. Investigation of the reasonableness of the rates of several of the larger utility companies of the State, including some electric power companies, is planned by the Public Service Commission within the next few months.

COAL MEN URGE IMPROVEMENT OF BIG MUDDY RIVER

Tonnage Available for Transportation Down the Stream Estimated at 9,150,000 Annually.

Cheaper coal throughout the Mississippi Valley, return of prosperity to the Illinois coal fields, and potentially huge local development of industries dependent upon fuel supply and inexpensive transportation were urged in favor of canalizing the Big Muddy River at a hearing yesterday in the office of Maj. John C. Gotwals, district army engineer.

The Big Muddy taps the heart of the coal field. It flows southwest through Jackson, Franklin and Williamson counties, reaching the Mississippi at Grand Tower, 129 miles below St. Louis. Maj. Gotwals is making a preliminary examination, to determine whether he will recommend a Government survey. An Illinois State survey estimated the cost of the improvement, including locks to raise the water level, at $30,000,000.

Coal Tonnage Available. Coal available for water transportation down the Big Muddy would amount to 9,150,000 tons annually, Dr. F. C. Honnold, representing Chicago coal men, estimated from 10-year averages. His figures did not take into account an increased distribution from this field, possible upon development of low-rate water shipping, except to states south of Cairo along the Mississippi, where he said that coal companies privately operating barges had virtually cut out Southern Illinois mines which had to pay rail freight rates.

He said that operators would obviate railroad hauling to the river by sending their own pit cars direct from the mine in order to eliminate unnecessary handling, which would crumble the coal and lower its value for many purposes. The trend in coal mining, he said, was against smoke-producing fuel and toward processed coal, or coke, for which coal in the Big Muddy area had been definitely proved fit. This, he said, would give a commodity that could move slowly and be stored without fire hazard and in anticipation of later use. That would function toward all-year operation of all mines, whereas now only a third in the Southern Illinois field were in operation.

P. H. Stamper of the Benton Chamber of Commerce stated that $0,000 tons annually of fruit from California, salmon from Seattle, sugar from New Orleans and other food stuff was ready to take advantage of water transportation into the district, which had a population of 250,000.

Lumber Cargoes Available. Henry Stotler, Benton lumberman, said that 150,000,000 feet of lumber coming into the district every year would be subject to a $300,000 saving by water shipment. E. E. Glick, Franklin County Farm Adviser, said that $000 to 10,000 tons of limestone had been shipped into his county alone this year, and that fruit, grain and some stock would be available for barge shipment.

About 600 carloads of paving brick daily for Florida, 100 tons of iron castings a month, outboard, and 50 tons of pig iron inbound, besides up to 1000 tons of commercial shale a day for the month was Murphysboro's potential contribution to barge traffic, H. H. Burch, secretary of the Murphysboro Chamber of Commerce, estimated.

Urges Comprehensive Scheme. "We urge the improvement not as an individual project, but as part of the Great Lakes-to-the-Gulf waterway," said Walter Williams of Benton, legal representative of Southern Illinois operators and a leading spirit in the move for canalization.

"When the waterway is completed, with a nine-foot channel from Chicago to New Orleans, six-foot channels up the Mississippi to the Twin Cities and up the Missouri to Kansas City, under present conditions coal may be distributed from this field to all these points.

"By all-water movement to New Orleans, it may supply a considerable proportion of the vessels coaled there. Its quality is such that it may be exported to Gulf ports, South America and even the Pacific Coast. Commercial coke, just developing in these fields, may be distributed everywhere along the Great Lakes to the Gulf waterways in competition with smokeless fuels from the East.

"As Hill pushed his railroads into the Northwest long before the population would justify the expenditure, and found it justified by consequent growth in population and industry, we believe that whatever 'chance' is inherent in making the Big Muddy into a barge canal would be justified by growth in that territory of other industries depending on coal and coke for their development, and relying upon all-water transportation.

Possibility in Iron Industry. "It is not beyond immediate probability that iron deposits of Northern Alabama and Missouri could, as ore, be brought into this area by water and converted into iron and its refinements. One of the largest iron deposits in the world has recently been discovered along the Tennessee River. It will be open to barge transportation.

when the Wilson dam at Muscle Shoals is completed.

"It is possible that the improvement of the Big Muddy may justify itself as a war measure. Conditions are such that by water movement and the building up of the iron industry ordinance could be built here. And the territory is so far inland that it is safe for Government consideration."

26 Killed in Japanese Storm. By the Associated Press. TOKIO, Japan, Oct. 2.—Further details of the great rainstorm of Wednesday night show that 20 persons were killed in Yokohama and six in Yokosuka by landslides. Fifty houses were razed by the slides and other damage was done particularly to the railroads, many miles of which were washed away by flood water. In Tokio, 42,000 houses were partly submerged but otherwise the damage done was not serious.

DRAKE FOOTBALL TEAM, MINUS 6 REGULARS, HERE FOR PIKER GAME

—By Ken Kling

Not in Five Years Have Bulldogs Been Caught So Unprepared—Coach

Disbarments Because of Ineligibility Wrecked Solem's Plans—Two Drake Eleventh Make Up Visiting Squad—Washington Weakened by Injuries.

The Drake University football team, ordinarily one of the most formidable eleven in the Missouri Valley Conference, limped into today's game against the Washington Redskins. That's because the eleven, one of its opening Valley championship game against Washington here tomorrow, is riddled by losses of varsity timber.

The eleven was left bereft of six of its regulars because of disbarments because of ineligibility. Two of the eleven, one is ill and the other another's mother caused a disbarment.

It cannot be supposed that all of the Bulldogs have been let out, however. Two full backs, from the 22, there is a scout that eleven equal to Washington's best will be available. They grow football men big and good at Des Moines.

The burden of the visitors' defense is a lame. Hearken to the words of Coach Zuppke, who is in the University of Illinois to-day prepared for the onslaught of the Nebraska. The game Saturday is expected to show a multitude of weak spots in the Illinois line-up or prove that coach Zuppke has been taking on much worry.

Grange has been flanking himself at the opposing line during practice with all of his old time vim and vigor. He went through in one game for touchdowns. Joe Green, in the backfield has been almost matching Grange in ground gaining. The line took on offensive aspects at last night's scrimmage and for the first time Zuppke didn't mutter and little sentences. He is expected to announce Saturday's lineup late today. A total of 11,581 tickets had been sold for the Nebraska game this morning.

Two Others Lost.
Frank Anderson, regarded as the likely man to take Delmege's place, broke down under an illness which has handicapped him for several days and turned in his uniform. Van Thompson, a sophomore who had won a place as one of the best guards on the squad, was unable to accompany his mates to St. Louis because of the illness of his mother.

Despite these losses, Coach Solem has a fine squad. Ralph Anderson, alternate center last year, was hurriedly switched to the end. He undoubtedly will make the position satisfactorily on game, but lacks the speed to become a star offensive wingman. Bill Smith, who has been in the line, will make this week's complications. Drake looked forward to a game that would compare favorably with the crack Bulldogs eleven of 1924. Late developments, however, have changed the outlook. One, not even the Drake coaches, knew what the Bulldogs would do.

Eight Veterans on Squad.
Eight of the men who are scheduled to start the game, are veterans of the team. They are: Bill Smith, center, who has been in the line, will make this week's complications. Drake looked forward to a game that would compare favorably with the crack Bulldogs eleven of 1924. Late developments, however, have changed the outlook. One, not even the Drake coaches, knew what the Bulldogs would do.

Unbroken Practice Schedule Has Pikers In Excellent Condition

The Washington squad has not had a practice since Sept. 15, when the workouts started. The team training has consisted of light running for the most part. The team has been rather fortunate in having only two men, McCarroll and Webster, a center, laid out with injuries. McCarroll is daily to weigh in, and then weigh out before and after practice. One player when asked how much he weighed, said that he weighed 140 going in and 110 coming out. The squad has lost its surplus in running around the track, always a part of the day's program.

Need Only a Few Breaks.
An air of optimism prevails in the Pike camp. The men feel that they are ready for Drake, and that with a fair amount of breaks Washington will come out on top.

In endeavoring to solve the perplexing problem that the center and end positions create, Higgins yesterday shifted the men around and seemed satisfied with the results. Webster was in uniform, but when he passed the ball from center, his attempts were so poor that Higgins removed him in favor of Sommer. Both Webster and Hennessy may be able to play but at this late date it is certain the squad will watch the game from the bench.

Miller Works at End.
Barney Miller was shifted from tackle to end, to accustom him to play a flank position, should he be called upon to fill either. Avie's will also be held in emergency for relief duty. Elliott may be given a try at the center position, in case Sommer gets hurt.

It is Higgins' intention to keep the starting eleven going, provided Drake does not score upon them. Should a Drake score come through weakness of the Pike forward wall, there will be much shifting and substituting.

Mullins Certain Michigan City Go Will Take Place

Wills' Adviser Declares 125,000 Capacity Stadium Is to Be Erected for Title Bout.

By BERT IGOE.
Of the New York World Sport Staff.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Paddy Mullins and Harry Wills returned here last evening and said that the bout with Dempsey positively was on. To prove it, Paddy told the boys who were to listen that he had received $25,000 as a little memento of that signing bee out in the West.

"I got part of it by check and part in cash," said Paddy. "There isn't any question about the reliability of the six or seven men back of the bout between the champion and Wills."

"Of course, I've asked for $100,000 on the line, before I'd start around here or any other place," went on Paddy; "but I've been convinced that these people are on the level out there."

"Pretty nice to get $25,000 for merely signing. This and the fact that they showed me Dempsey in the flesh and his signature in real ink on paper, influenced me. I'm sure they are going through."

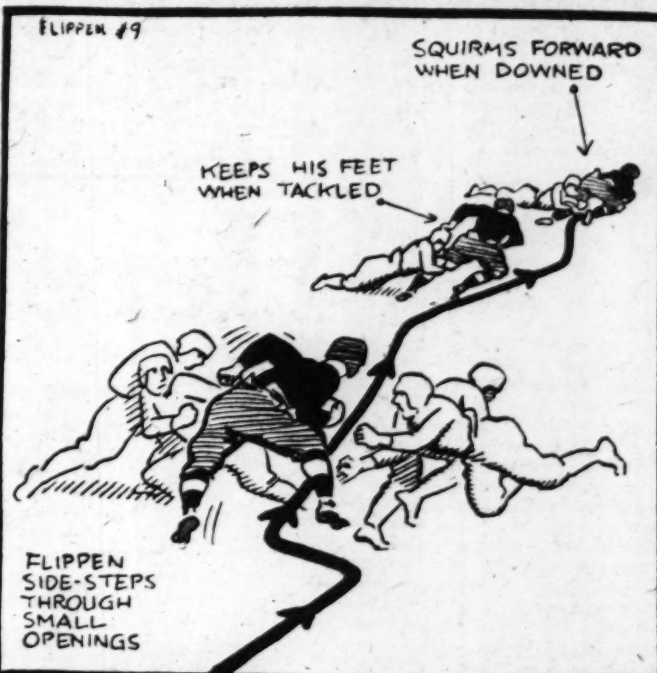

They've agreed to build a stadium in Michigan City with a seating capacity of 125,000. Andy Welsburg, who owns the Oliver Hotel, in South Bend, is backing Fitzsimmons in this undertaking and he will stick.

The agreement calls for a bout by Sept. 1, 1926. I have permission to engage in one bout. They must inform us as to the chances of its going through by June 1. We will have to start work for the fight not later than 60 days before the bout. We are on percentage."

"I know that Dempsey got a fat advance guarantee. Dempsey told me he never again would fight in New York, and that, furthermore, he would never fight for Kearns. I never want to set eyes on him again," Dempsey told me. "I'm marked Mullins in conclusion."

PLAYING SECRETS

OF Famous Football Stars
No. 9—ROYCE FLIPPEN
(Halfback, Navy.)

By Ed Thorp,
Former Star Player, Now an Official Referee.

A FOOTBALL coach best appreciates the player who is a dependable ground gainer, especially in tight situations when two yards must be made to retain the ball. A notable model of this type of player is Royce Flippen of the United States Naval Academy. Flippen tips only 160, but has the grit and determination to fight through his weight in wild cats.

When Flippen gets the ball he is seldom stopped short of a gain. Bob Folwell, who coached the Midway last season, describes Flippen as a player who goes forward because of determination and a rare ability to squirm his way through a pack of opponents. The Navy star must be put down to be stopped. While on his feet Flippen is like a high-powered eel, squirming and fighting his way for an additional yard or two. Flippen is most effective on plays off

PIRATE FAN SPENDS $2.65 TO INDICATE SERIES SEAT WANTED

By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 2.—Two Pirate fans, who, like a host of baseball enthusiasts everywhere, like to repose in the same seat every time they see a game, took novel ways to record this desire when ordering world's series reservations at Forbes Field.

One sent a monster map, which cost $2.85 to transport to the ticket office. It was a blue print drawing of Forbes Field's stands, showing the hot dog counters, flag-pole, exits and the seat in which the fan wanted to sit was properly indicated.

Another man mailed 77 rain checks and said he would like to see the games from the seat designated on the stubs, so please give him the seat which belonged to him by squatters' rights, he having squatted on the same seat 77 times at $1 a time.

WAR ON BRITAIN URGED BY CHINA'S 'CHRISTIAN GENERAL'

Marshal Feng Further Declares He Sees No Good Coming From Coming Customs Parley.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

KALGAN, Province of Chihli, Sept. 7.—China should take the field against Great Britain with all the resources in her power in defense of her rights, Marshal Feng Pu Hsiang, the "Christian General," told a correspondent of the Associated Press, who called on him at his headquarters here.

Even with the knowledge that opposition to British by force of arms would result in defeat, Marshal Feng declared it is his belief that it was his duty and that of every other military man to make any sacrifice necessary in behalf of his country, as an indication to the world of China's earnestness.

The "Christian General" said he could see no good that could accrue to China from the forthcoming customs conference.

"Why talk about China's ability to protect foreigners when foreigners are shooting down unarmed and innocent Chinese in China?" he exclaimed.

Feng asserted it seemed utterly beside the point to make revision of the treaties contingent upon a mere suppositious inability to give protection to foreign lives and interests.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Powers have addressed a note to the Chinese Government bearing on the disorders at Shanghai, May 20, respecting which there has been considerable correspondence between the Governments. In their latest note, the Powers declare their desire to settle the Shanghai incident by the shooting of several Chinese by the police of the international settlement, in that city during a strike demonstration—which they always considered regrettable.

They assert that everything possible has been done to improve the atmosphere at Shanghai. All military measures have been abolished, naval detachments re-embarked, emergency measures canceled, those arrested given their liberty and the schools reopened. They express the desire to continue the exchange of views respecting responsibility for various incidents, which demand careful study.

4500 ENROLLED TO WORK IN COMMUNITY FUND CAMPAIGN

Annual Drive for Charities and Philanthropies Will Be Held Nov. 13 to 23.

Nearly 4500 men and women have been enrolled by the Community Fund to work in the annual campaign, to be held Nov. 13-23, inclusive. Bert H. Lang, chairman of the campaign committee, announced yesterday.

Last year's goal of $1,750,000, which was the largest amount ever solicited in St. Louis for maintenance of charities and philanthropies, will be exceeded this year.

The reason for the increase, according to Lang, corresponds to the increasing needs in the city and ways held its campaign at this period during November," said Lang yesterday. "It is the same time that the American National Red Cross holds its annual campaign for memberships. Contributors of $1 or more to the Community Fund

Mayor of Cedar R. Once Defeated

CHERRY, RAPIDID, in an effort to protect the young will be made the Cherry, old-time me once famous "Cherry" St. Louis team, if she is elected Mayor of St. Louis.

Miss Cherry would on few law and to avoid bathing beaches on the such steps would make morals, and she also as favor of men and women for the married ones.

She said: "The bath is shocking. I will them. The morals of this must be protected."

Miss Cherry has tried before, missing some about 1900 votes in 1920 when she was nonpolitical.

Miss Cherry is an advocate of the politics Smith W. Brookhart of believe that if the St. Louis team it would be by for Iowa.

There is a controversy and other cities in teaching of art in schools. Miss Cherry to it.

"Do we want a general?" she asked, in a contest. "When I went last, none of these things we learned how to spell and the spelling of the year ended Jun. have been $1,971,000."

Wall Street News and Comment

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Trading in the stock market was at a lively pace, the volume of business increasing and with a larger number of new high records.

The rise in United States Steel above 122 and the advance in Bethlehem Steel and Crucible were attributed to short covering.

The story about estate liquidation in United States Steel was credited by some, but today more attention was paid to the fact that this is about the time of year when the corporation begins to pick up stock to offer later to its employees.

Stewart Warner was actively bought on rumors that earnings are running at the rate of $1.15 a share.

There was a widespread tip that Pierce Arrow prior preferred would be retired and on this an urgent buying movement came into the common stock.

Flask Rubber made a new high and United States Rubber was actively dealt in around 40 figures, meeting, however, a lot of realizing later in the day.

A large number of new high records were established. Among these were the Agricultural Chemical stocks, American Agricultural up nearly 2 points, and Matheson Alkali. Others which bettered their previous tops were Fleischmann, up nearly 6 points, Barnett Leather, American Linseed, New York Shipbuilding, Vitacut and the baking shares. The buying in the baking group was associated with the consolidation reports.

The feature of today's trading was the sale of an odd lot of Michigan Electric, which is hardly ever dealt in, at 65. This represented an advance of 50 points from the last sale.

The Bond Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Failure to reach an agreement on the French debt refunding proposals, however disappointing to dealers in French securities, did not weaken the investment situation in French bonds and this fact was recognized in the bond market today.

The French issues were lower, but the decline was not at all important. The Government 5s were off from 105 1/2 to slightly below 105. The 7s were down a half point and the Paris-Lyons and Mediterranean 6s fell away a point. But there was no large selling. It was a downward movement brought about on sentimental grounds.

The Argentine 6s of 1919 were dealt in a shade above their issue price of 96. Peru 5s were off a quarter of a point. Dodge Brothers debenture 6s made a new high at 97 1/2. Subsequently they receded. But this was altogether the main episode in the bond market of the day.

The strength of rubber securities showed itself once more in the demand for U. S. Rubber 5s which were quoted at 90 1/2. The turn for the better in the oil shares was attended by larger transactions at advancing prices in oil bonds. Sinclair Consolidated 7s were 92 as against 91 1/2, the close of the previous day.

Wall Street News and Comment

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Trading in the stock market was at a lively pace, the volume of business increasing and with a larger number of new high records.

The rise in United States Steel above 122 and the advance in Bethlehem Steel and Crucible were attributed to short covering.

The story about estate liquidation in United States Steel was credited by some, but today more attention was paid to the fact that this is about the time of year when the corporation begins to pick up stock to offer later to its employees.

Stewart Warner was actively bought on rumors that earnings are running at the rate of $1.15 a share.

There was a widespread tip that Pierce Arrow prior preferred would be retired and on this an urgent buying movement came into the common stock.

Flask Rubber made a new high and United States Rubber was actively dealt in around 40 figures, meeting, however, a lot of realizing later in the day.

A large number of new high records were established. Among these were the Agricultural Chemical stocks, American Agricultural up nearly 2 points, and Matheson Alkali. Others which bettered their previous tops were Fleischmann, up nearly 6 points, Barnett Leather, American Linseed, New York Shipbuilding, Vitacut and the baking shares. The buying in the baking group was associated with the consolidation reports.

The feature of today's trading was the sale of an odd lot of Michigan Electric, which is hardly ever dealt in, at 65. This represented an advance of 50 points from the last sale.

The Bond Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Failure to reach an agreement on the French debt refunding proposals, however disappointing to dealers in French securities, did not weaken the investment situation in French bonds and this fact was recognized in the bond market today.

The French issues were lower, but the decline was not at all important. The Government 5s were off from 105 1/2 to slightly below 105. The 7s were down a half point and the Paris-Lyons and Mediterranean 6s fell away a point. But there was no large selling. It was a downward movement brought about on sentimental grounds.

German Government bonds were fractionally lower at 97 1/2, during the greater part of the time as against 98 1/2 at Thursday's close.

The Argentine 6s of 1919 were dealt in a shade above their issue price of 96. Peru 5s were off a quarter of a point. Dodge Brothers debenture 6s made a new high at 97 1/2. Subsequently they receded. But this was altogether the main episode in the bond market of the day.

The strength of rubber securities showed itself once more in the demand for U. S. Rubber 5s which were quoted at 90 1/2. The turn for the better in the oil shares was attended by larger transactions at advancing prices in oil bonds. Sinclair Consolidated 7s were 92 as against 91 1/2, the close of the previous day.

Current Assets amount to over $12,415,265 as compared to Current Liabilities of only $2,375,270, a ratio of better than 5 to 1. Net Current Assets are in excess

Growth and Earnings: For the twelve months period ended August 31, 1925, the combined sales, domestic and foreign, were in excess of $50,000,000 and the net earnings, audited by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., after allowing for saving in interest charges and after making provision for depreciation were $3,004,022.41, equivalent to $22.24 per share or 3.17 times the total annual dividend requirements on the outstanding Preferred Stock. No provision for Federal Income Taxes was made and none was payable for that year as there were offsets due the Companies as the result of prior years' operations. The total sales in dollars of "Wesson Oil" have increased nearly fourteen-fold and the total sales of "Wesson Grease" have increased nearly five-fold.

Equity: This Preferred Stock is followed by 270,000 shares of Common Stock, Voting Trust Certificates, of no par value, which has an active market in New Orleans. These shares have a present market value of approximately $48 per share, indicating an equity of about $13,000,000 or nearly $100 per share for each share of Preferred Stock.

FIVE BALLOONS TO CHART AIR LINES FROM DETROIT

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 2.—Five conclusion of the Ford reliability tour for commercial planes. The event is an additional feature of the extensive demonstration of aeronautics planned for the week preceding the first official opening of airport at Dearborn.

Weather conditions for the last 26 years would indicate that the five balloons will drift over Canada and possibly reach the Atlantic coast line before descending.

The five balloons and their pilots follow:

United States Army balloon, 35-000 cubic feet capacity, from Mc-Cook Field, Dayton, O.; Lieut. Max
Meyer, pilot, and Lieut. William E. Huffman, aid.

Detroit Flying Club balloon, 25-000 cubic feet capacity; C. D. Williams, pilot; Raffe Emerson, aid.

Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. balloon, 25,000 cubic feet capacity;
piloted jointly by Walter Morton and Jack Boettner; Herbert Mar-son, aid.

Balloon, 20,000 cubic feet capacity, piloted by W. C. Naylor, Detroit, amateur balloonist.

Balloon, 35,000 cubic feet capacity, piloted by S. A. U. Rasmussen, amateur balloonist.

All of the contesting balloons are required to carry instruments to record the action of air currents at various altitudes and possibly to record storms.

The DIVINE LADY

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO.

LONDON and triumph—so dizzy and dazling that Emma might have almost repeated her favorite saying that she did not know whether she was on her head or her heels. Almost, only, for success had given her a confidence so robust that she foresaw none but glittering vistas. "Alone I did it!" was her pride. Not to Greville, not to Hamilton, but to her own conquering personality was the victory due, and looking about her she saw none to rival her and therefore none to fear. There might be one or two women as beautiful in the eyes of men whose taste was on a lower plane than Sir William's, she thought, but that was beauty only expressing itself in feature, whereas in herself it overflowed into such song, such pose, that Gallini, the famous impresario, offered her £1000 a year and two benefits if she would engage with him, whereupon Sir William gaily retorted that he had engaged her for life. Was it wonderful that she should see herself laurel-crowned, almost divine?

For life! and Greville had to bear this amazing result of his plot with what fortitude he could muster. The shock was so great that it was really fortitude but the stoicism of good breeding which alone carried him through. Could he ever forget that first meeting with the lovers at Sir William's hotel? Even his frosted heart beat a little quicker as he climbed the broad shallow stairs. He could not for the life of him tell what Emma would be at when the door opened. Would she have changed, grown distant and formidable, less or more beautiful? Would she triumph vulgarly? (He could imagine that very well.) Would she be the facility which had placed her where she was, be turned mercilessly against his interests henceforward? And would his dear Hamilton look the fool which in every fiber Greville felt him to be? The contradictions so confused him that at last he could only say within himself—"Emma! Good God!"—almost stupefied at the work of his own hand, and abandon himself to fate.

The door opened. Hamilton was in an armchair near a letter to her, she perched on the arm like a child, one hand about his neck. Greville bowed at the door and advanced with cordial haste. "My dear Emma, my dear Hamilton!" unpleasantly conscious of a flush which seemed to pervade his whole being and not his face alone. She ran forward with the prettiest grace imaginable and caught his outstretched hand, looking back for Hamilton as he came up behind her.

"Oh, Greville, and do we see you once more? Sir William and me was longing for this hour. Take his other hand, Sir William, and then it will be the three of us again."

She put his hand in his uncle's, and beamed upon both as gay and innocent as a lamb in a May meadow. There was no speck of cloud in the untroubled depths of the eyes he remembered so well, nothing but happiness. He took the hand and kissed it.

"What am I to call you Lady Hamilton?" said he, smiling at his uncle. "Emma—what else? She is not changed in heart, Greville. But look at her and see what Italy has done!"

"What you have done!" she corrected gravely, and stood with dropped hands at attention to be viewed. But Greville's keen eyes had already drawn their conclusion. "More beautiful!" they told him, "more womanly; dignity and elegance at her command to be used like her cachemire when necessary, and laid aside for the old free-and-easy when she relaxed. Younger looking than even her four and twenty years—the bud unfolded into perfect beauty, the blossomed rose."

Sir William looked much older. The journey had wearied him and the wild round of safety in London teased him. He wanted respite and could not get it, for every fashionable in the town was wild to see the coming Ambassador, and it is possible that even Emma herself might have been daunted if she could have guessed the stories with which the blank of not the virgin pages of her married life were adorned. Hamilton knew them. Despairing friends plucked at the skirts of his garment at the last moment, with these legends, to save him from a fate impossible for an ambassador. He sickened of London and longed for Naples and the sunshine.

"You have seen the King!" Greville asked, when they had talked a while. "Certainly. He was most gracious. I am given a privy councilship. Emma, my love, have you forgot your appointment with Romney?"

She hesitated a second, involuntarily, to all but Greville's eagerness, then stooped and kissed Sir William's cheek.

"Why, of course! I was so glad to see Greville I had all but forgot poor Romney. Only two hours, and then when I come back we dress for the Duke of Queensberry's reception. The Prince of Wales will be there."

She challenged Greville, with her bright bold eyes, to follow her! Fear to leave him alone with

LADY HAMILTON AS CIRCE

Sir William? Not she! and so presently tripped out of the room in her big hat all plumes and the white silk cloak about her shoulders. Greville attended her to the carriage, and stood bareheaded, reminiscent of many past hackney coaches on the same errand, as it bore her away to Romney's studio. She had forgotten to ask concerning little Emma, now a fine buxom girl of nine, whose last school bill lay receipted in his pocket. He turned and went slowly up the stairs, reflecting.

"And what do you think of her?" was the first eager question. It seemed that Hamilton could think of nothing else. He looked even older now she was gone; it was as when the sun dies off a landscape. "Most beautiful," Greville answered with his carefully regulated enthusiasm. "Immensely, unspeakably improved."

"Worth a little sacrifice, eh?" "Certainly. If worth a great one no one but yourself can tell. I suppose you had great difficulties with the King about his consent."

"On the whole, not so bad as I expected. I won't hide from you, who have all my confidence, that he was extremely reluctant. I could see the Queen had primed him. He leaned chiefly on difficulties with the Neapolitan Court, and I could honestly reassure him there. Indeed, I was able to show him a letter that Marie Caroline wrote me before leaving, expressing her warm interest and kindness for Emma. It went a long way. He agreed finally, and offered the privy councilship."

Greville reflected. "A great honor. Did you see the Queen?"

"No. But I have no doubt that Emma will win her way when we are married. No one can resist her. I may say her life is one triumphal procession."

"It promised to be long since," said Greville politely. "Has she acquired more placidity of temper than we used to remark in her?"

"Undoubtedly. Sometimes I have seen the little struggle, for she is naturally impetuous, but it is instantly suppressed. She owes much to your instruction, my dear Greville."

"You are too partial. Tell me—does she cherish any resentment against me?" Be candid. Women are unreasonable, and though it has crowned her happiness and yours, still she may be sore on that point—you understand?"

"Perfectly. But no, not in the least. She speaks of me with just the calm affection I desire. One of her chief pleasures in looking forward was to see you. I believe I express the truth in saying she mourned sincerely over Miss Middleton's folly and would do all in her power to aid you in any way."

Of that Greville believed what he pleased, but when he and Sir

William proceeded arm in arm to the club he was at least assured that for the present the sword was sheathed.

The truth was, she was in such an Elysium that she thought little of him and was as ready to be cordial to overflowing as she would have been with Sir Harry Fetherstonehaugh or any other reminder of a past which might never have existed as far as she was concerned. Incapable of bearing ill-will to any man, and to few women, she credited all the world with as happy-go-lucky a forgetfulness as her own. Reserve and delicacy were qualities unknown to her except as attitudes, and they troubled none of her relations with Greville in the new role of aunt and nephew.

DO'S AND DON'TS FOR BUSINESS WOMEN

By NELLIE E. GARDNER

TACKS AND TACT

WHY all this praise for being "sharp as a tack?" Consider the qualifications of a tack. True enough, it has plenty of point, and it always gets there. But isn't it absolutely certain of being hit on the head some time in its life? And doesn't its greatest value lie in its power to jab?

Who could possibly wish to be like that? Mere acumen never took anyone to the top. To make a big success of any business or profession, or in the smooth management of occasional irritating intricacies in the home, it takes more than the sharpness of a tack to carry you through.

What cannot be accomplished through power can frequently be gained by tact. How could a mother govern or guide a stubborn child without the use of constant tact? How could a sweetheart or wife keep the man she loves happy without everlasting display of the art "which every woman knows?"

If grown men, in their management of the affairs of nations, would show half the tact that a small girl instinctively shows in getting what she wants from her mother, the world would see fewer wars!

An ounce of tact, if used in time, is more effective than a ton of gun powder. Nations are just big groups of business concerns and families and homes, united with a common background and a common purpose. Thrones have been lost for want of tact; empires have decayed; and dynasties been forgotten.

In your experience you have seen commercial organizations smash.

And why? Tact, so the lexicographer tells us, is nice discernment and delicate skill in speech and behavior. What could be a greater recommendation for one whom you wish to employ? In many a business conference, when a certain man or woman is mentioned for promotion to executive responsibility, some one will say: "Undoubtedly capable. A whiz for work! But will never do. Does not know how to get along with people. Has no tact!"

Remember, when striving to excel in snap and verve, that no one likes to be pricked. In building your character and business edifice be sure to include a generous supply of tact—and not quite so much tack!

William proceeded arm in arm to the club he was at least assured that for the present the sword was sheathed.

The truth was, she was in such an Elysium that she thought little of him and was as ready to be cordial to overflowing as she would have been with Sir Harry Fetherstonehaugh or any other reminder of a past which might never have existed as far as she was concerned. ## THE DATE TREE

By ERNEST SEEMAN

October 2, 1771—154 years ago—Henry Frederick, Duke of Cumberland, marries Mrs. Horton. The lady is described as "a young widow, extremely pretty and remarkable for the great length of her eyelashes, veiling a pair of artful and coquettish eyes." But her beauty made no impression on her royal brother-in-law, George III, who to show his displeasure at his younger brother's mesalliance enacted the Royal Marriage Act providing that no descendant of George II might lawfully marry without consent of the sovereign, signified under the great seal.

Partners

THIS life from the day you enter it until you reluctantly leave it is one long dance. And as you go through the various figures of this complicated dance you'll find that you'll have partners aplenty. You'll start with one, then someone else will cut in, and it goes on thus in an almost endless chain—until you finally reach the last and best partner of all—Love!

Many times in weaving through the maze of steps you'll think you have found the right partner, but a little voice is always there just in time to warn you if you are in danger. When the voice tells you that THIS is the one he sure you need, for the voice is the voice of Love.

So dance merrily on your way and laugh light-heartedly your various partners, until at last you find the right one. The gay whirl will turn to a soft, sweet walk, and you'll go on step and time with the partner who Love has chosen for you.

FAMOUS JEWELS

By BARBARA BAYNE

Among the World's Greatest Diamonds

"HE WHO buys a diamond," it has been said, "purchases a fragment of eternity." Diamonds and adamant are only different forms of the same world, both signifying "unconquerable."

Certainly jewels link the present with the past in a marvelous fashion. Man lives out his brief span of years and is seen no more. But his jewel lives on and on, embodying family traditions, and around it gathers the record of buried nations or dead civilizations. Though lost, buried for centuries from human eye, it still lives on "unconquerable," until some day some hand will bring it forth again, "a fragment of eternity."

It will surprise many who always have thought of a diamond as a brilliant white stone, to learn that black, gray, hyacinth, red and rarest of all, blue diamonds have been found. The Austrian crown jewels are reputed to contain the most magnificent ruby red diamonds extant. The "Hope" is the best known specimen of the sapphire blue diamond.

The "Porter Rhodes," so named after the mine in which it was found in 1880—a claim of the great Kimberly mines—is one of the finest diamonds of large size taken from the Cape diggings. It weighs 150 carats and the color is blue-white, rare in any size, but extremely so in large stones.

The famous "Dresden" diamond is a faultless, white, egg-shaped drop of exceptional brilliancy and "fire," weighing 186 carats.

It was found in the Bagagem mines in Brazil in 1857 and in the rough weighed 119½ carats. Sent to Rio de Janeiro, it was brought by an agent there, who forwarded it to London.

In 1863 a Rajah of India came to London for the purpose of buying it, but the price asked—£40,000—was too high for even his Oriental extravagance. A merchant who accompanied him fell under the spell of the great diamond.

Later, during the Civil War in America, when the price of cotton went soaring skyward he became enormously rich in the cotton trade and sent his agent to London to purchase the "Dresden" diamond.

The agent, doubtless accustomed to sharp practice, got it for $12,000, and sold it to the merchant for the original price, thus clearing $8000 on the transaction.

The merchant ultimately lost his get-rich-quick fortune and at his death his heirs sold the "Dresden" to the Maharajah Sivaji Ras, Gaikwar of Baroda, "who, always willing and ready to pay any price for a jewel that took his fancy, paid $40,000 for it. The "Dresden" has remained in the Gaikwar's famous collection of jewels.

Another celebrated diamond, said to have been found by a negro in South America, near the Abasco River in 1775, is the "Regent of Portugal," a round diamond of 217 carats, valued at 326,800 guineas.

Conversation should always be a selection.—Hamilton.

Sammy peered down in than could be said for some other bird babies. For instance, take the babies of Rattles the Kingfisher. When they are hatched there isn't a feather nor a particle of down on them, and really they are much uglier and homelier looking than were these Buzzard babies.

The down covered them all over, even their heads. It covered their funny little wings. Could you have seen them and not known who their parents were, you never, never would have guessed that those funny little wings ever could be among the most wonderful wings in all the Great World! They certainly didn't look it then. They didn't give the least hint of what they would be by and by.

Those hollow tree babies grew as only hungry young babies can grow. Where their parents managed to find enough food for them was a mystery. After the first curiosity was satisfied there were few visitors to the big hollow stump. You see, Ol' Mistah Buzzard and Mrs. Buzzard are really vultures, and live altogether on dead food. They do not catch other birds or animals. This is one reason why they are not feared by their neighbors. But the food they eat disgusts most of their neighbors, and so all of these kept away from the hollow tree. This suited Mistah and Mrs. Buzzard. There was nothing to disturb their growing youngsters.

By and by the first feathers appeared and they appeared on those funny little wings. My, how proud Mrs. Buzzard was of those first feathers! The youngsters grew bigger and bigger and presently their wings were all feathered out, while their bodies were still covered with down. Even when they were big enough to take their first lessons in flying, which consisted in flapping heavily up into a tree, they still wore a great deal of down. It covered their heads. They certainly were no beauties, to say the least, but Ol' Mistah Buzzard thought they were, and Mrs. Buzzard thought they were, so perhaps after all they were. You know, so much depends on the point of view.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Harmony in Paint.

It takes white paint to make the mahogany or walnut furniture look their best. An oak background will clash and take away from the beauty of the darker wood.

Preparedness.

The time is here when a call on the phone brings the heater man to look over the system, clean out the pipes and attend to any repairs before cold weather is upon us. It is well to have the flues clean before even the brisk days as we hesitate to burn wood and papers to take away the dampness before there is no dirt to cause a fire in the chimney.

The Care of Silk.

Never wring silk dry.
Never dry silk in the sunshine.
Never iron silk with a very hot iron.
Never allow sinken things to become very soiled before washing.
Never rub soap directly on silk.
Make a suds of white flakes and work the silk up and down in them until the article is clean.

NOTES ABOUT WOMEN

The Tokio Metropolitan Police Board has issued an order prohibiting the Japanese fair sex from wearing abbreviated or filmy garments in public.

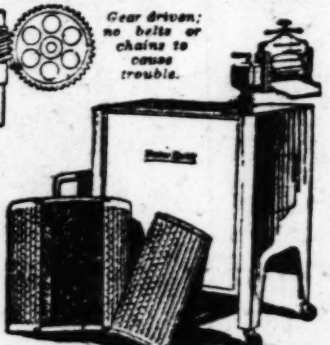

Miss Mary Holman, a Laborite, of West Australia, has been elected a member of Parliament, the second woman south of the equator to enter such a body.

Egyptian brides protect themselves against divorce by stipulating in the marriage contract that a certain sum of money must be paid in the event of a divorce.

RAISINS AND RICE.

Boil the needed quantity of rice in the usual way. Seed from a tablespoonful to a small cupful of raisins, according to the quantity of rice to be used. Throw the raisins into boiling water for a few minutes to plump, then drain carefully and add to the rice. Dust each portion with a little sugar and cover with cream.

WILL CLOTHES WIN HIM?

The diary of Sylvia Smartly, a modern society girl, who tests a time-honored means to attract the indifferent male.

By FLORENCE CLARK.

FRIDAY.

DEAR DIARY:
Bob telephoned this morning. He abandoned the practice of calling me up long before it got to be a habit. I pretended not to recognize his voice—an old dodge—but there isn't a better one for registering indifference.

"I'd like to see you, Sylvia," he said. "It's a long time since we had a chat. There always seems to be so many people around."

"Since when do you crave to be alone with me?" I bantered. "Now, don't spoil it all," he said shortly.

"Spill what?" I asked. I could scarcely believe my ears. "And what are you talking about?" Then the receiver clicked up on the other end or the operator cut us off. I'd that case I thought he would think I'd cut him off. But I didn't know where he'd called me from and there was nothing for me to do but wait until he called back.

I am a most unlucky female. I should have guessed and purred when he spoke as he did. Then he did call back.

"Why did you cut me off?" he asked. "But I didn't cut you off!" "I'd like to come up tonight," he said. "May I?"

Then I proceeded to ransack my wardrobe for something marvelous to wear. What a job. Try to find something marvelous among my rags.

Nevertheless I looked for I had a vague feeling that there was something wearable that Bob hadn't seen. I fished out a pair of leaf-green antelope slippers and some very thin gray stockings. The slippers have small buckles of brilliant, and I wore my gray velvet dress.

I had decided to make my feet the attraction tonight. Bob came, but he did not bring with him the encouragingly personal and impatiently attentive manner of the morning's telephone conversation.

He just didn't. That's all. And I couldn't turn things round to it. He's coming tomorrow to dinner. We'll see then.

Select a small ham and boil. Let cool in water in which it was cooked. Remove the skin and trim the excess fat. Put into the ham the following mixture: 1 1/2 cups brown sugar, 1 teaspoon allspice, 1 teaspoon ginger, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon nutmeg. Lift to a baking pan and place in a hot oven. ## HERE AT LAST IS REAL RELIEFFROM EXCESS FAT!

Silph Reducing Chewing Gum—

Latest scientific discovery takes New York by storm—Everyone is chewing it and POUNDS OF FAT ARE ROLLING OFF!

No longer need you suffer from excess fat. No longer need you be humiliated by sarcastic looks or remarks. No longer need you starve yourself to distraction or tire yourself out with exercises. With Silph Reducing Chewing Gum, the latest and most wonderful discovery ever made, every man, woman and child can today safely, quickly and easily reduce. Silph Reducing Gum is the result of years of scientific study and experimentation—it is different from anything ever devised to take off FAT. It is simple, safe, cheap and easy. It is almost like telling you to eat radishes to reduce. It is just as pleasant and as harmless.

Silph Reducing Gum is not a drug nor a laxative—it contains pure extract of sea plants known for years to possess wonderful reducing properties but until now it was impossible to obtain sufficient quantities of these plant extracts to supply a public demand. Today a group of scientists have found a way to obtain it and to incorporate it in a delicious, refreshing chewing gum. When mixed with the gastric juices, through the flow of saliva it eliminates fat forming elements in the system—at the same time it is great for stomach or intestinal trouble. The quick and amazing results already obtained with Silph have simply been overwhelming. Silph sells for 50 cents a box, enough for one week, at all good drug stores. Remember that to CHEW SILPH IS TO BE SYLPH-LIKE," that's the new York's latest slogan.
